Troy, Alabama

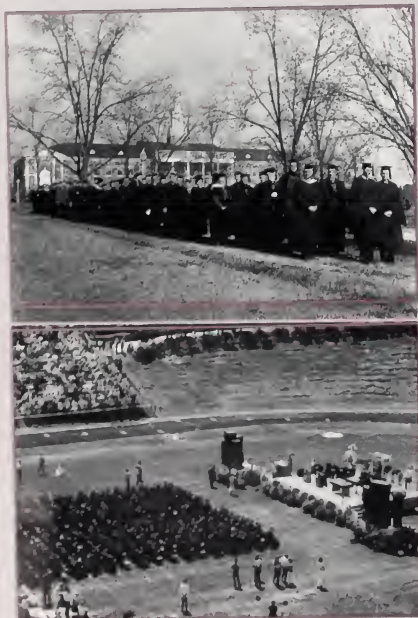

CHANGE
1990

Much of the time, we go through our days and not even notice what is going on around us. Our world changes so often that the tiniest details are missed. But after many years these changes are quite noticeable. Within the world of change, Troy State's "world changes too."

For instance, at one time the dining room, bookstore and post office were in one room, in the basement of Bibb Graves. Now, not one, but several places to eat are on campus in various buildings, and of course, the bookstore and post office have grown to keep up with the changing world.

A graduation ceremony is much the same, except for the number of students and faculty. A fly-by over the TSU campus now is noticeably different from years ago when so much pasture land surrounded the campus.

So, take a look back and compare it to the present, and you will agree that we live "In a World of Change."

IN A WORLD OF CHANGE

Homecoming was always a time for roses, parties and students visiting with alumni who reminisce about when THEY were a student, and of course, their world was much different from the present-day student's!*

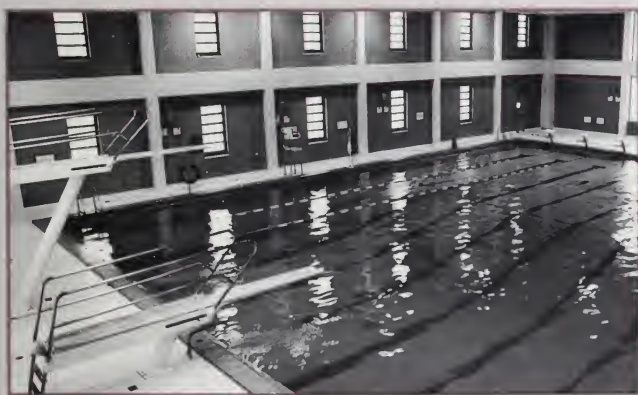

The athletic department continues to change by means of better equipment, facilities, and athletes. This is evident by the many titles and championships TSU has earned over many years. School spirit continues to be strong even with larger universities nearby. T-Roy can be seen at almost any spirit raising event.

Buildings are buildings, some have been added and some removed, but what's inside has changed giving new ideas and meanings to the words "university campus." Elevators, breakrooms, carpeted floors, boardrooms, and even lighting of those rooms show "a world of change."

Troy State University, now known world-over for the band, has always made music, even in the "old" days. The tunes they play and the uniforms they wear have kept up with the changing world.

It doesn't take but one look to see the world of change which has taken place in the pools, the swimsuits and even where the pools are located.

Instead of one small corner of a room for the bookstore long ago, there are two locations for books to be sold, one located in Eldridge and the other in the Adams Center. The alumnus of yester year would be amazed at the world of change in subject matter as well as the inventory.

The theatre, a place of make-believe based upon life in general, can always show the patrons a world of change and Troy State has been fortunate to have such up-to-date facilities. Kilby hall housed the first theatre and just this past year the Adams Center Performing Arts Theatre was dedicated with the first play being "Brighton Beach Memoirs," followed by other performances, taking its audiences with them to a world of change.

Homecoming and a football game brings to mind crowds, friends, pageantry, and the competitive spirit.

The Greeks have grown in the number of chapters as well as in number of members. Although, they may be individuals by letters, they come together as a greek community. Miss Venus of years long ago may look strange to you now, but "in a world of change" the young women have kept abreast of the fashions, make-up and hair styles.

IN A WORLD OF CHANGE ...
nothing can escape change.

Having Everything To Give

The underprivileged went a little less hungry those months, and scientists were funded for one more research project against incurable diseases—thanks to students at Troy State who chose to give.

For years the Greek system has been committed to supporting organizations such as The Ronald MacDonald House and The American Cancer Society. Several fraternities offered their services, from helping clean up a disaster area to collecting canned goods for the hungry. One social organization even hosted a Christmas/New Years Party for the elderly at Pike Manor Nursing Home.

But one of the most memorable philanthropies was for James Pace, an 18 year old victim of Hodgkin's Disease. TSU students rallied to his aid, planning a fundraiser involving 50 businesses and 15 or 20 campus organizations. But on the night before the fundraiser, James Pace died. Students went on with the fundraiser, now a memorial, raising $5000. Troy King commented, "It was such a team effort. I haven't seen Greeks and Independants come together like that since I've been here. It's a shame it took this to make it happen."

THE COLORS OF THE

"What I wear is a way of expressing me—of course I don't know what 'me' is."

Zan Quinn, Junior

Zan sports the casual look of a 60's tie dye.

They were wearing tank tops and bell bottoms ten years ago. Five years later, no one would be caught dead in them. They were singing "Memories." "Memories light the corners of our minds;

Misty water-colored memories of the way we were." But gone are those shallow attempts of introspection. 2000 AD was staring the inhabitants of Troy, Alabama right in the face. 1990. If everybody was doing it in 1985, everybody refused to do it if they thought everybody else was doing it. It was the beginning of a new decade. No time for weak-willed conformity (at least no one wanted to be labeled as a conformist).

The clothes we wore told only half the story. Many said we had returned to the 60's in dress and attitude. But we were smart enough to pick out only the cool parts: the hippie look, the Collegiate comfort unites with the dignity of New England fashion. Timmy Lockett, Deann Dwyer, and Rob Moore show three popular looks of the day: cotton cable-knit sweaters, faded jeans, flowing skirts, and gentler suits.

Multiversity

"I just wear whatever's comfortable. Some things I wear may be considered in style, some may not; some get me a lot of weird looks."

involvement in world affairs, the sleek hair, the meaningful music. "Why do the babies cry? There's enough food to feed the world. Why when there's so many of us are there people still alone?" - Tracy Chapman, "Why" from the album "Fast Car." We were trying to think past ourselves—trying.

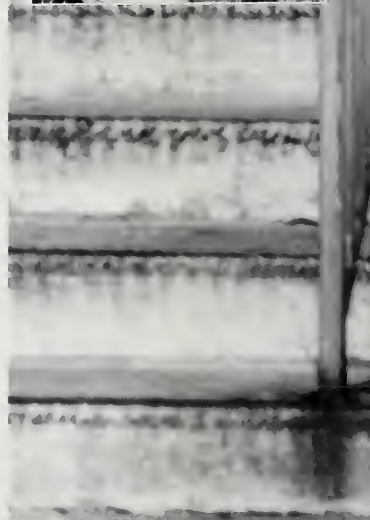

As for clothes, the style was not so clear cut as in the Flapper era, the clean cut fifties, or the unkept seventies. Our "look" was a conglomeration of the fads of past eras, mixed with the individuality of a "clothes for the body, not the body for clothes" attitude. Like our university, which in the true sense is a multiversity with its numerous constituent and affiliated institutions, we had become a multiversity within our own campus.

Basically, whatever a person wanted to wear was the order of the day. The spectrum on any given day included: the deep thinking wearers of all black; the girls in heels, a silk blouse, and a calf length flowing split skirt; the easy going sweats and athletic shoes buffs; the 90's version yuppies in cable knit sweaters and Bucks; the gals wearing guys Levi's, a braided belt, and a Polo; and even a few creative individualists wearing their latest thrift store finds.

Troy Mills, a sophomore from Palm Beach, Florida, commented on the trends of the day. "It definitely takes a while for what's in style to get to Troy. I buy my clothes at home . . . Some things I wear may be considered in style, some may not; some get me a lot of weird looks. But, I figure fashion is what you make it."

Many students went for the safe look of peer popular clothes, however. Cheryl Dailley and Paige Gilliland told what influenced them most in their fashion preferences. Paige: "I think about what's in. I look at what other people wear, the new stuff in stores . . ."

Multiversity

"If I see someone walking across campus with a cute outfit on, I might go out and buy something just like it,"

Cheryl added. Palladium:

Have you ever started a fad?" "No, I don't think I have ... or maybe I just don't realize it."

In stark contrast, Zan Quinn answered the question "Why do you wear what you wear?" as follows: "I don't want to conform to what everybody else is wearing.

What I wear is a way of expressing me—of course I don't know what 'me' is ... I would like to work with young people or go overseas one day, so I will probably wear what I wear now for the rest of my life."

Indeed we were a student body clothed with a multitude of different ideas about not only fashion, but everything else in life. We could be found in shopping malls, Walmarts, or daddys' closets gathering our garb, but a few things remained in common still: we were all part of the multiversity of TSU.

The newly remodeled Montgomery Mall was the refuge of many students looking for a fashion excursion.

No Longer Living For the Weekend Thursday Night

"I just need a stress reliever after a week of studies, hectic schedules, work, and meetings."

NIQUE. Suitcase college students start partying on Thursday nights. Rush parties, band parties and night clubs were sights of many TSU students taking advantage of the hype before going home. Friday classes were a dreaded reality after a night of partying, but habitual partiers continued to hit the action anyway. One student commented, "I just need a stress reliever after a week of studies, hectic schedules, work, and meetings."

Local establishments such as Cheers, The Front Porch, and Bumpers continued to host lively bands and special contests, but TSU students enjoyed a refreshing change in 1989. Derek Brown and Chad Tortorice arrived on the night scene with acoustic guitars and mellow voices, charming audiences all over the campus as well as in the night clubs. Blues, jazz, country, old rock- their repertoire was as varied as the individuals in their audience.

● MISSIONS VISION

Average Students Change the World

"There's more to life than Troy, AL. We need to think beyond our location and abilities. We need to dream, to think the impossible, to have world vision."

Andrew Cheely, Senior

The "Mongolian Monster," Antjuan Marsh and his sidekicks Todd Reynolds and Jaymie Burkes attract a crowd for a SBP Saturday outreach.

Brazil, Thailand, Kenya ... Iowa, Ohio, Florida ... Birmingham, Ft. Walton, Troy. They have touched all these places. Though few, a number of students at Troy State reached beyond the safety of complacency to give their lives to the world. But they were not clouds without water. They had a purpose—namely to touch people wherever they went one at a time with the gospel of Jesus Christ.

A journal entry of one student relates her vehement concern for the souls of people all over the world. The setting, Bangkok, Thailand, summer of 1989.

"As I was passing over the pedestrian's crossing bridge I saw a young boy, eight or nine, sleeping in the street with a tin can in front of him. He was thin and dirty with worn clothes and sores on his legs. I had never seen anything as pitiful and frightening in my life. All around me the world kept moving and buzzing and sweating and talking and walking and living off a code I didn't understand, while this young boy slowly died. I felt utterly, totally, and completely helpless. I wanted to rip out my own frustrated heart so I would not feel anymore. I wanted to run away from him, as far as I could get, and at the same time hold him and love him and take him away from the noise and the filth. I couldn't do anything—nothing. I was helpless. I gave him 20 baht and a Thai 4 Laws. I've never seen such a look of shock, surprise, and humility in all my life. He bowed very low to me. I wanted to love him and to take him away. My group called me and I walked away. I turned and the young boy was turning the pages of the 4 Laws in a dumbfounded way. I waved at him from a distance and he waved back, perplexed."

"We're here to pump you up!" An old Hanz and Franz saying depicts TSU fans school spirit perfectly. Junior Fred Holmes summed up the importance of the Trojan enthusiasm by saying, "To be the best team possible, you have to have school spirit." Compared to past years, student support was on the rise in 1989-'90. Packed out football games and basketball games said it all.

The excitement of Troy State fans was not just for the benefit of the players, though. The Student Government Association promoted school spirit at basketball games with spirit contests, rewarding those groups with the most spirit. Although this added enthusiasm no doubt helped the players have another great season, yelling for the Trojans was just plain FUN!

Jannifer Lampley- "I think TSU Lanes will give the students more sportsmanship."

● BOWLING

Killing in one roll

"The crowd gets pretty rowdy at night and especially on the weekends," sighed Jannifer Lampley, an employee of TSU Lanes, Troy State's new bowling alley. The eight lane facility opened September 12, 1989. Ron Pierce, director of the Adams Center had hoped to develop such a facility since the 1970's, and persevered to see the first bricks laid in winter of 1988.

Designed in red, black, and gray, TSU Lanes is a modern alley with computerized scoring, which also keeps track of the number of games being played. "I think TSU Lanes is a great contribution to the campus life here at TSU," said senior Gaylen Farrior. "It's a really nice bowling alley," added Barry Willis, a 19 year old sophomore from Alabaster. "The equipment is very modern and up to date. It is really easy to use."

The advantages of the bowling alley are numerous. Students get a special rate continued on page 34

Another bonus was the extended hours of the Adams

Center dining room fall quarter, serving pan pizza in addition to the regular menu to accomodate bowlers.

Additionally, students had the opportunity to learn to bowl by enrolling in the new bowling class of the Health, Physical Education and Recreation Department. Dr.

Gene Hanson, chairman, said, "I think that Bowling will be like golf, tennis, archery, and aerobic dance and close out every quarter."

Making the GRADES

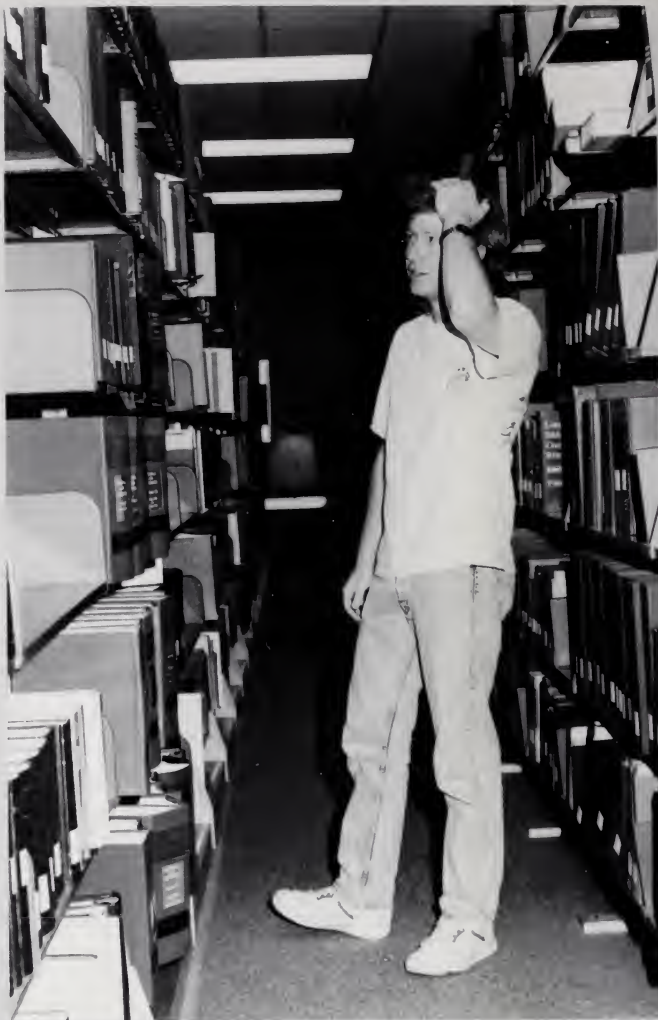

Studying. The act of applying one's mind purposefully to the acquisition of knowledge or understanding of any subject.

How do TSU students feel about hitting the books? Following, several students offer viewpoints on that necessary evil.

"Using the reference section is a lot easier than it looks. Once you find the call number of the book you want, locating the book itself is no problem. The call numbers fall in alphabetical order. Sometimes finding the subject or book you want in the card catalog can be the biggest problem. On the other hand, actually making myself go to the library is probably the biggest problem!"

Jeff York

Jeff York typifies the attitude of most students attempting to use the reference section in the library—frustration. But despite complaints, students can find almost anything they need with help from library personnel.

Freshman Julie Campagna knows that with every hour of studying comes two hours of playing.

"I have blown off studying on several occasions, but I don't make it a regular habit. Sometimes things come up that I can't pass up. But, I always manage to get the studying done at another time."

Julie Campagna

"For me, the best way to prepare for a big exam is to start studying a week in advance. I go through my notes and make up sample tests, then I review for a couple of hours the night before."

Susie Hart

When did TSU require Education majors like Susie Hart to subscribe to Glamour magazine?

"Usually group study sessions aren't helpful for me. I end up talking about the latest movie instead of the subject we're supposed to be studying. Sometimes group studying helps if I have questions to ask or need another viewpoint on something."

Erin Elmore

"I usually don't skip one class to prepare for another except on rare occasions, because I might miss something important in that class."

D.C. Locke

Sisters Laura Elmore and Erin Elmore find the library conducive to good studying.

The steps of the amphitheater serve as a relaxing study place for D.C. Locke.

"Late night study sessions are a regular occurrence with me; it's usually when I study the best. As long as I have my coffee pot, I can put in some late night hours. There are too many distractions in my room, so I usually study in the hall—there's hardly anyone out that late to trip over me."

Trisha Braddock

"My idea of studying is locating materials on a certain subject and gathering as much information as I can on the topic I am studying. If all else fails, I head to the Porch. Time out always helps information stick in my head better anyway."

Chris Wright

For Trisha Braddock the basic study aids are a coffee pot and blanket.

Chris Wright finds that the quietness of the library may be just a little too relaxing.

In the midst of stress, tension and boredom, the weekend arrives. Then it is time for Troy State Students to walk, bike, ride or drive off into the Wild Blue Yonder. They head for adventurous trips to snow-capped mountains or white sandy beaches, the quiet wooded hills of home or the busy shops of a mall.

The road trip escapades of TSU'ers are limitless. Imagination seems to take over and pictures flood back to prove the stories of the ultimate weekend! In the quest for the perfect road trip, students have found themselves surrounded by the Cajun crowds of Mardi Gras, in the middle of a crystal blue lake at a cabin hide-away, caught in a rain storm in the midst of big-city neon signs, drowning in the luxury of a friend's beach condo or various other predicaments.

Yet with the Gulf beaches only a little over two hours away, the number one road trip for TSU students is probably the beach. "When I think of the weekends, I think of Ft. Walton Beach, Florida," commented Monica Fulmer. Nevermind that Spring Break is always a bit too cool for tanning; nevermind the sand and oil that stick to the car seats; nevermind that World Lit paper which is due first thing Monday morning—when the ocean calls, burned out students hit the road.

An Exceptional Love

"I always thought it would be easy to work with handicapped children."

A Camp ASCCA volunteer

Kelly Turner, a Special Education major, helps two campers get ready for the costume party.

Camp ASCCA - Alabama's Special Camp for Children and Adults, is one place where what's on the inside really is what counts. The experience of working with physically or mentally handicapped people (most psychologists agree on the label "exceptional"), was described by one student as similar to looking into a mirror and seeing one's own faults, potentials, beliefs, and blessings.

The school of education urges all students going into the field of education to volunteer at Camp ASCCA for a weekend. Each weekend during the school year a different group of campers visits ASCCA, the campers usually grouped according to type and severity of handicap. One TSU volunteer described her experience thus, "Everybody ought to go at least once. Those children (and adults) have so much love to offer anyone who will receive it. And even though I'm not going into Special Ed., after this weekend I have a tender spot in my heart for 'special' people."

● TANNING

"The key to sunbathing is to pick the right spot where everybody else is lying out."

Pam Averitt

Sun Light

SUN BRIGHT

"I wish I may, I wish I might have a tan that's out of sight." Students will go to great lengths to possess the savage tan. They schedule classes around the sun hours, lie out on solid concrete, or drive for three hours one way just to catch a few rays at the beach. One fraternity even sponsors "Sunfried and Satisfied", a tanning contest. But with all the talk about the dangers of skin cancer, sunbathing seems to be gradually losing it's position as the number one summer sport.

The American Cancer Society warns that there is a proven connection between sun exposure and skin cancer as well as premature wrinkling. Even the Bain de Soleil lady is a few shades lighter this year since she wears a higher protective tanning lotion. Spring quarter at TSU still brings out the bikinis, but now it also brings out the Bannana Boat in SPFs of 8, 15, and even 25.

A TSU junior

They could be seen swimming laps, walking the golf course, pounding the track, or sweating in an aerobics class. Of all the times in one's life, most TSU students would agree that college must be one of the hardest times to keep physically fit. Bad habits are birthed in college that wreak havoc on the minds and bodies of students. Freshmen, oblivious to the fact that eating pizza at midnight three times a week is bound to add a few pounds, do not deny themselves such new indulgences. And students with heavy course loads and work schedules find little time to exercise. Fatigue sets in after endless nights of studying, and many students simply cannot handle the stress.

Yet in the midst of a seemingly hopeless physical situation, students turn to physical education classes and other exercise programs to fight the flab and fatigue. Troy State encourages students to be active. A regular quarter offers almost 40 sections of Health, Physical Education and Recreation classes. Specialty classes such as sailing, archery, and bowling are filled to capacity each quarter. Additionally, Wright Hall offers nutritional analysis services and the Health Center stands ready to nurse burned out students back to wellness.

"One aim of CAPP is to encourage healthful lifestyles and responsible choices."

Faith Weathington, CAPP Director

The Campus Abuse Prevention Program (CAPP) does not take lightly the widespread problems of substance abuse and overall neglect of wellness—some of which are on TSU's campus. It's goal is to educate the student body through peer education classes and student leader training. Awareness is encouraged through workshops, seminars, bulletin boards, and special programs. CAPP also supports fun that is drug-free through activities which offer alternatives to students. A resource library of video tapes, brochures, books and research articles are available on a wide range of topics such as alcohol and drugs, eating problems and solutions, and wellness and coping skills.

A "Wellness Fair" and Drunk Driving Protest was held on March 7 during National Collegiate Drug Awareness Week. Blood testing, Health Risk Appraisals, exercise and physical fitness do's and don'ts, self-defense techniques, and a mock DUI trial were among the day's activities.

NATIONAL COLLEGIATE ALCOHOL AWARENESS WEEK

It Couldn't Happen At Troy State

But it is. Even a small, sweet town like Troy, nestled among the churches and oak trees cannot escape the presence of drug abuse. Perhaps the reason we make jokes about drug abuse prevention programs is because we know that what they are telling us is just for general information. It doesn't mean us. Will the individual user take the statistics serious enough to apply them to himself? According to a recent

Drug/Alcohol survey conducted by the Counseling Center, 71% of students surveyed said that they had driven an automobile either after or while drinking. Moreover, 34% admitted to drinking and driving more than five times. Approximately 1,000 TSU students fall into this category. 15% used drugs at the same time they consumed alcohol.

There is a great deal of ignorance and misinformation concerning drug use and abuse. Forty percent of students surveyed did not know that alcohol is a depressant, not a stimulant. Twenty-five percent thought a person could sober up by drinking coffee and taking a cold shower, when actually only time can bring back sobriety. Forty-six percent said they had a friend with a drinking problem, while only three percent admitted that they themselves had a problem.

But Troy State will not stand idly by as the abuse of drugs in any form is propagated. In an effort to combat such activity, the Campus Abuse Prevention Program (CAAP) was created to provide alternatives to alcohol and drug use. The program's three-fold strategy of Education, Awareness, and Fun Alternatives encourages healthy lifestyles and responsible choices. The program also offers leadership and counseling training to various student organizational leaders, such as R.A.s and orientation leaders. Prevention is stressed throughout the program, and eye-catching bulletin boards serve to warn students before it's too late. However, confidential counseling is available to any student upon request.

● RELATIONSHIPS

Amor

Romance in full bloom at Troy State

Chuck Franklin and Carla Clinansmith typify one of the many couples who meet and fall in love in college. Their advice for a successful relationship? "Put your priorities in order."

"One week after we met we decided not to date anyone else. Of course, Mom says 'Ya'll are rushing it.'" Carla Clinansmith, a 19 year old freshman from Enterprise describes her relationship with Chuck Franklin, a 20 year old junior from Troy. Like many other serious couples at Troy State, Chuck states that their relationship is centered around spiritual values. The perfect girl for him would be someone just like Carla, he says, "A Christian girl who is loving, kind, available through it all, and will keep me strong and accountable in my spiritual life."

Brandy Bumpers and Toby Walker, both from Jackson, AL have been dating for four years. Much has changed, according to Brandy, since that first meeting at a high school football game, especially since coming to college. Their relationship is more mature now, she says, more understanding, and definately more serious. A typical date for Brandy and Toby at college is going out to eat, talking, and simply being together.

Paul Dyer and Becca Burgess are not a collegiate couple, but high school students who, when asked how they expected male/female relationships to change upon entering college, both believed that they would have more freedom and openness with members of the opposite sex. "In college, you dont have to take your date home to meet Daddy," says Becca. About marriage Paul commented that he would like to get married ... after college when he would be financially secure. He stressed the importance of marrying the right one for the right reasons.

Brandy Bumpers and Toby Walker have been dating for 4 years. Brandy recalls their first date when she spilled her drink and flipped the pizza out on the table. "I didn't think he would ever ask me out again."

● MONEY

Survey Says . . .

Almighty Dollar, dough, long green, lucre, bucks, cabbage, moolah, mazuma, bread, hard cash. It's the leavin that makes the bread rise, the polish that shines the shoes, the beans that fill the stomach. And college is the perfect setting for students to first experience the joys and evils of money.

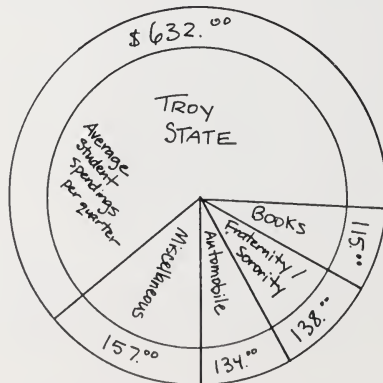

Though tuition, room, and board rise slightly each year, Troy State is still one of the most reasonably priced universities in the South. In a recent informal survey taken by the Palladium, 66% of students surveyed stated that cost was an influencing factor in their decision to attend Troy

State. Scholarships and financial aid draw many students who would otherwise be unable to go to college. 61% of students surveyed received financial in one form or another, the average amount being approximately $704 per quarter. About 20% of Troy State students received student loans, and the majority of those borrowers will owe up to $7000 upon graduation.

College may very well be a testing ground for managing one's money. Of the 88% of TSU students surveyed who maintain a checking account, half of them kept between $50 and $200 in it on the average. Yet while students were learning to be independant, 23% had already bounced checks this year and 48% received spending money from their parents.

When asked how students felt about their present financial situation, 38% were "content," 41% were "discontent but provided for," and 6% were "desperate." Finally, the character of students surveyed surfaced with the question, "How does financial security rank in your life priorities?". 23% said it was no. 1, 43% placed it second, 24% said third, 3% - fourth, and 2% said it would be fifth.

● INTERNATIONAL HOUSE ORLD at Our Doorstep

The PLAN. Troy Rotary Club and the TSU Foundation joined together in building an "International House" which opened to students on September 25, 1989. The house was completed at a cost of $185,000 through donations from private donors and Rotary members. Dr. Nolan Hatcher, the adviser of ISCO said the idea for the house had been floating around since the early '70's.

The PURPOSE. The International House was built for the specific purpose of uniting foreign and American students to promote world perspective and cultural understanding. The house was designed to hold 10 American and 10 foreign students, with two separate male and female wings. A large sitting room, a kitchen equipped with microwave and dishwasher, and extra storage space in each room were some of the special features of the house.

The PEOPLE. England, Korea, Ireland, Bangladesh, Germany, and the

Kim Sanders and Robert Watley will remember the International House as a place where many good friendships were made.

United States were all represented in the International House. Dermot Shortall from Ireland liked the "homey atmosphere." "It's quieter than in the dorms," said Cathy Gonzalez, one of the American students. Philip Curtis commented on the overall idea of the house: "It's healthy to exchange ideas in a world that is getting smaller everyday. We are being prepared for a future of constant interaction with other cultures." Such preparation took place every Thursday night as the residents hosted packed out International Students Cultural Organization meetings. No doubt, those students who took advantage of this "world at our doorstep" have few regrets.

Curtain Rises In Performing Arts Theatre

The Performing Arts theatre was built as part of a project to enlarge the Adams Center. Seating 301 people, the theatre is used for productions by the TSU Drama Department, for guest lecturers, for satellite television reception, movies, and video presentations. Adams Center Director, Ron Pierce commented, "The theatre was designed so that everyone has a clear, unobstructed view, and the high quality sound system will project evenly throughout the auditorium. There is also a full-production stage, with outstanding lighting and electronics to compliment the sound system." The new Performing Arts theatre is considered to be a great improvement over Smith Hall Auditorium because of its superior acoustics.

The theatre opened to the public January 25-27 with "Brighton Beach Memoirs". Other productions held in the Performing Arts theatre include, "The Rivals," a performance by the Chestnut Brass Company, "Lee Ann Hampton Laverly Oberlander," and "Oedipus the King."

Quarter's End. Noisy dorms, packed suitcases, impatient Resident Assistants, all night studying, stressful exams, summer plans, sad goodbyes. When anxiety is high and funds are low, the end of the quarter is nearing. Joe Milam, a senior at TSU says his favorite thing about the end of the quarter is "blowing off steam—getting the pressures off my back." He does this by "Partying mainly . . . playing golf, and especially going to the beach." But for many students like Joe who go to summer school, as soon as one quarter ends, another begins. Yet he doesn't mind because "summer school is the best quarter of all—relaxed attitude, no Friday classes, and lots of beach trips!"

That's LIFE

After 27 years behind bars, the world's most famous prisoner, Nelson Mandela, was set free. Mandela, a living symbol of black resistance to white minority rule in South Africa, said in an interview after his release, "It was worth going to prison because of your convictions, and to be prepared to suffer for what you believe in is something worthwhile. It is an achievement for a man to do his duty on earth irrespective of the consequences." Despite his confinement, Mandela played a key role in behind the scenes negotiations with the government in their release of political prisoners, ending the state of emergency and relegalizing the African National Council.

In Lithuania, workers fought to break the chains that bound them to Moscow and Marxism. Gorbachev threatened to impose economic sanctions on Lithuania unless parliament repealed legislation passed on March 11, 1990 which declared the republic's independence. In an effort to intimidate Lithuania, Gorbachev and Prime Minister Nikolai Ryzhkov used military exercises and public building take overs for three weeks. Bush discouraged Gorbachev from any bloodshed after appealing for a peaceful settlement to maintain good U.S.-Soviet relations.

Numbing our hearts was Ryan White, an 18 year old hemophiliac who fell victim to the inevitable toll of AIDS in April 1990. At a park near Indianapolis's Riley Hospital for children, President Bush planted an elm tree for White and proclaimed that this young man "helped us understand the truth about AIDS. He's shown us all of the strength and bravery of the human heart." White deserved a gold medal for braving demonstrations by parents and classmates who sought to bar him from attending school in Kokomo, Indiana. Emerging as somewhat of a national poster boy for AIDS, he made aware the need for more and better AIDS education.

A new Germany emerged as the wall came tumbling down Nov. 9, 1989. From this sudden and drastic change, two Germanys strived to reach an agreement of reunification. Hopeful that a unified economy would be greater than the sum of its parts, Germans realized that combining West Germany's social market economy and East Germany's collapsing command system would not be easy. The dismantling of the wall brought families together, radically reshaped a country, and offered a vision of a Europe reborn.

A hot Christmas item in 1989 was a piece of the rock—literally. A Missouri entrepreneur imported 20 tons of rubble from the Berlin Wall and sold them in 2oz. chunks complete with informative papers and a declaration of authenticity.

Every year abortion is an issue debated as rights vs. morals. This year the Supreme Court dealt with a state law requiring that parents be notified before their teenager received an abortion. Many believed that the law brought back some loving parental support and an increase in sex education from a parent's viewpoint. On the other hand, arguments arose that notification would result in teenage suicide and dangerous self-abortions. This law is based on the never-ending issue—ABORTION.

April 22, 1990 marked the 20th anniversary of the first Earth Day. Due to growing environmental concerns, this day reflected the recognition that all major environmental threats are global in scope. Hitting close to home on the issue, Troy State broadened the environmental movement with speakers on environmental issues, a campus effort to clean-up, to recycle cans, and to plant trees, and hosting a band party. Earth Day 1990 reminded all of us that confronting the realism of changing our attitudes and our individual behavior will benefit the world.

This year, M&M's celebrated their 50th birthday. Not surprisingly, they have remained America's favorite candy and will continue to be an almost addictive treat. Who could stop after one handful? The color assortment for M&M's Plain consists of 30 percent browns, 20 percent each reds and yellows, and 10 percent each oranges, greens and tans. M&M's Peanut has no tans. Although color has no impact on taste, many Americans have color favorites.

On the big screen, we have seen the consequences of Vietnam. Born on the Forth of July was a realistic movie depicting the life of Ron Kovic as he faced personal conflicts resulting from the war. Based on true emotions, actor Tom Cruise portrailed Kovic revealed much more than Hollywood entertainment.

Shattering his spine in Vietnam left Kovic with resentment and questions about valuing family and patronism. Born on the Forth of July made us reevaluate the things we already knew.

America lost its morning cup of motivation when Jane Pauley left NBC's Today show. Giving up her $1.2 million a year contract, Pauley left cohost Bryant Gumbel to spend more time as 'mom' and move on to new challenges.

Assigned at only 25 to replace Barbara Walters, Pauley proved herself to the American public. Beginning at WISH-TV in Indianapolis, moving to WMAQ-TV in Chicago and finally to the Today show happened in only four years. Through her Today career, she found support from her husband, Garry Trudeau, cartoonist for Doonesbury. Pauley's replacement as cohost was Deborah Norville. Although Norville has some big shoes to fill, many believe she will be the woman of the 90's.

All eyes were on Donald and Ivana Trump when their glittering marriage collapsed. They were the golden couple that tarnished and their $1.7 billion fortune all rested in the legalities of a prenuptial agreement. Not to our surprise, their dispute was played out like a public event.

On ABC's America's Funniest Home Video's we were entertained with viewer produced home videos that laughed at human weirdness and every day American life. Hosted by Bob Paget, this show cracked Nielsen's top five after only 6 epsidoes.

Arsenio Hall grabbed the post-Carson generation as he cried "Let's...get..BUSY" to fans who tune in weeknights on 167 stations nationwide. Hall has done what Alan Thick and Joan Rivers could not do: pose a credible challenge to the Tonight Show. With some impromptu jamming from the band he dubbed his 'posse' and a guest list that ranges from rap groups to Hollywood legends, it's no surprise that the Arsenio Hall passed Pat Sajak and David Letterman to take the No. 2 slot behind the Tonight Show. Hall's show ranked No. 1 among the under 35 audience. What has made Hall's show unique revolves around his manic energy that sends a signal that just about anything can happen at his nightly party.

In the poor sections of American cities including New York, Detroit, Chicago and Los Angeles, kids turned to violence and killing for 'cool' clothes. Such items included athletic and leather jackets as well as down parkas and top selling sneakers. Driven by materialism, crack-quickenened tempers and the availability of guns, kids committed street crimes that made us view fashion in a different light. Due to a sense of depression, wanting to emulate sports figures or humiliate a gang member, kids were wearing clothes to die for.

Not letting Down Syndrome block the road to his dream of being an actor, twenty-seven year old Chris Burkes starred as Corky Thatcher in ABC's Life Goes On. Burkes and the development of his character grew to be a symbolic hero to the 250,000 people with Down Syndrome. He opened the eyes of Americans with his talent, charm and determination.

In making his dream a reality, Burkes became frustrated with his limitations and fragile concentration. Just before the cameras would role, he would mutter under his breath, "Get it together, Burke."

As the FOX network's popularity grew, so emerged a cartoon family, the Simpsons. Characterized by their bulging eyes, weird hair-dos and conspicuous overbite, Homer, Marge, Lisa, Maggie, and Bart suggestively resembled Americans in the lifestyles of today. Created by the producers of Married with Children, this prime time cartoon had children and adults alike eager to see what Bart would do next.

Sammy Davis Jr., song and dance extraordinaire, died at 5:59 AM on May 16, 1990 after an eight-month battle with throat cancer. His final struggle began August of 1989, when doctors found a small carcinoma behind his vocal cords. In January, Davis entered the hospital for what he thought was a dental problem but was told that the malignancy had returned and he had only a few months to live. As Davis's life was slipping away, his reputation and career had been on an upswing. He had received glowing reviews for his 1988-89 tour with Sinatra and Minnelli. Davis also received a tribute from show-business friends who reminded the nation of the many reasons he had been called Mr. Wonderful and Mr. Entertainment throughout his 60 year career.

One of the most important athletic competitions anywhere has no losers. It is Special Olympics and is growing throughout our nation. In 1990, some 24,500 athletes with mental retardation competed in the California Special Olympics. Striving for more than ribbons and medals, these athletes were experiencing independence, developing confidence, and challenging their own limitations. Beth Henning, one of the 30,000 Special Olympics volunteers, said, "It's almost impossible to put into words the joy you feel. Before they even finish a race, they've won my heart." Special Olympics is a way for these athletes to not only run a race but also break through barriers.

After hearing the word Caribbean, thoughts of sugary beaches, unique flowers, and tropical dreams enter the mind. With a force of 220 m.p.h. winds wiping out 9 of 10 homes and causing $1.3 billion in damages, Hurricane Hugo remodeled the tropical paradise. The hotels did not not hesitate to act as emergency rescue centers offering meals, showers, beds, and medical attention. The people of the Caribbean felt that the damage would hurt the tourist season and put a damper on the $7.3 billions that are spent by the tourist. The residents of the Caribbean worked hard to recover the damages, but they found that Hugo could not make the sea less bright or the sun less clear, or the starfish or break of spirits of the islands' hosts. The island will remain an American paradise reflecting a precious tourist commodity: the desire to please.

As we entered a new decade, we faced the reality of the harmful consequences of drug abuse in America. In trying to find a way to rationalize the ultimate problem, some proposed the legalization of drugs. Robert Sweet, a federal trial judge in New York City tried 400 cases in 1989, 40 of them criminal, compared to 250 cases in 1980, and only 7 of them criminal. He believed that the legalization of drugs would remove the outrageously high profit and get people out of the trade. Drugs would be dispensed by the government as is alcohol to drive down black market prices and to save money on law enforcement. However we approach a solution to the drug problem, we have to consider those people who abuse drugs and the influence drugs have on American youth. We also face the battle against casual drug use among middle and working class Americans and the inner city criminal class which no one wants to combat.

Hitting a little closer to home was found James Pace, an 18 year old boy from Montgomery County with Hodgkins Disease. The need of a bone marrow transplant brought about a need for $100,000. With no insurance, Bill Pace, James' 66 year-old father, had no means of raising the money. However, the only thing that stood between life and death for James was a financial need. Funder-raisers were set up throughout Montgomery, churches were taking special offerings, merchants of Montgomery made generous donations, and the Panhellenic system of Troy State University sold raffle tickets and raised over $3,000. Everyone was sad to hear of James Pace's death in February 1990, but the family felt fortunate in knowing that there were so many contributions and prayers for their son and his unfortunate disease.

Twenty years ago, four students were killed on the campus of Kent State University in Ohio. During nonviolent protest of the invasion of Cambodia, Nixon ordered an Ohio national guard unit in to see that order was maintained on the campus. The pointless deaths of the four students who attended the demonstration were remembered this year and still, no one knows who fired the first shot.

What's up, Doc? It was a birthday tribute to America's favorite rabbit. The year 1990 marked the 50th birthday of a plucky, free-thinking and ingenious cartoon character we have known as Bugs Bunny. Although Mel Blanc, the voice of Bugs Bunny, died in 1989, Bugs keeps going strong. Bugs has starred in more programs and on more television channels than any other artist in the history of television. Bugs Bunny could be found on ABC every Saturday morning in The Bugs Bunny & Tweety Show, on CBS in the Bugs and Daffy prime time specials, on Nickelodeon and Nick at Nite in Looney Tunes, on local stations daily in Bugs & Friends, and on TNT daily in Wild World of Shorts. Bugs Bunny can be considered the funniest animated character who enjoyed a crunchy carrot, a nice hot bath, his home in a rabbit hole, and life in general.

LIFE

Imagine losing almost everything due to the effects of a natural disaster. The people of Elba, Alabama encountered great financial and psychological damages from a devastating flood in March of 1990. Many residents of Elba were faced with the need of adequate funds to rebuild because of low Federal Aid, insurance that does not cover flood accidents, and a cut-back on employees and wages in local businesses. In Elba, being a community where many elders live, many had to deal with being physically and financially unable to rebuild. The loss of a home, which represents more than a structure of material, brought about much mental stress. There was a great concern for those who had to relocate and lost much because of the flood. The hardships that were found in Elba were unexpected but caused many to realize the affects of a natural disaster.

In March, we experienced the largest and most expensive oil spill in America. The Exxon Valdez spilled eleven million gallons of Alaskan crude into Prince William Sound with a cost of over $2 billion to clean up. Exxon faced over 150 civil lawsuits aled by the state, environmental groups, fishermen, native Americans and others who wanted payment for damages. The enormous oil spill caused a great deal of damages to the world's richest wildlife area. Top Exxon officials feared pollution statue felony charges carrying stiff fines and long jail terms. Captain Joseph Hazelwood, who operated the Valdez while intoxicated, faced charges of reckless endangerment.

Kermit, Miss Piggy and Fozzie Bear are loved by legions of fans both young and old, perhaps loved more than any flesh and blood celebrity. The death of puppeteer Jim Henson, the creator of the Muppets, came as a shock to all of America. Henson began his career as a student of the University of Maryland in the 1950's. In the 1960's, his Rowlf the Dog was a network regular on The Jimmy Dean Show. In 1969, Big Bird and other Henson creations became a sensation on Sesame Street. With an audience of 235 million, The Muppet Show was a success of the 1970's. In 1989, it was announced that the Muppets would join Mickey Mouse at Walt Disney World shaping the destiny of the creatures to be among childhood's most memorable characters. On May 16, 1990, Jim Henson passed away after suffering from a virulent bacterial infection, heart and kidney failure and shock which began as acute pneumonia. Henson's personality and ego will always be found in Kermit the Frog, and to be an eternal link to Kermit could not have pleased Henson more.

One rapidly growing concern among parents is the increasing amount of sex and violence found in music and movies. Concerned parents fret not so much about sex as about the combination of sex and violence. "Too much of today's entertainment carries messages that are damaging to young psyches and dangerous to society." is a statement that is made by many adults. The main concern for setting limitations in music and movies is to avoid the classification for the 1990's to be the Filth Decade where women are sex objects to be used by men, violence is an effective means of resolving conflicts, and hatred for another class of people increases. Many seem to view these modern productions as art that introduce beauty, prejudice, and power. Parents face a rough road in steering their child towards maturity since the end of the innocence has arrived in much of today's entertainment.

Numerous colleges face a level of hatred, prejudice, and ignorance resulting in the height of racism. There has been no way of knowing how often or to what extent racial harassment at colleges has actually occurred. At Wellesley College, the Report of the Task Force on Racism dated May 1989, contains zero evidence of any racist incidents, harassment, of intimidation. The report does not explain why blacks and other minority groups do not feel at home at Wellesley. Dealing with this "racially based environment" has become a great challenge for many students who experience name calling, isolation, and similar discomforts. Wellesley is only one of many colleges dealing with racism, but this issue has raised the question, "Didn't I come to college to join the mainstream not to be attacked by it?"

Homelessness can happen to anyone. It is a shame and very sad to know that in our country there is an enormous number of homeless, starving people. This year's four and a half hour laffathon, live from Radio City Music Hall, boasted cohosts Whoopi Goldberg, Billy Crystal, and Robin Williams with the help of 40 more comedians. This group cheerfully organized Comic Relief and raised $7.5 million to help the homeless. The all-star telecast made many Americans aware of this and other problems facing our nation and world. With the success of this year's laffathon and those to come in the future, homelessness can be a part of memories in the attic.

At restaurants, roadside rest stops, lunch meetings and parties could be found the newest breakthrough on the beer market, non-alcoholic beer. Miller Brewing Company's Sharp and Anheuser-Bush's O'Doul are two new brews that joined the market in 1990. Containing one-half of one percent, the non-alcoholic beer appealed to nondrinkers as well as drinkers who were striving to moderate their consumption. The greatest concern of the production of Sharp and O'Doul was a dangerous relapse for recovering alcoholics. The beer seemed to be deficient in taste, but with America's growing concern for their health, consumers will acquire a taste for these new safe suds.

In a word, the college experience is transient, passing away with time, fleeting. Those students who finally reach that platform full of distinguished men, stacks of diplomas, handshakes, and congratulations realize perhaps for the first time just how fast it has all gone by. Now they are dubbed "Graduates," whether they are ready or not. All the effort of Troy State to prepare these individuals for the "real world" seems only like a first grade coloring lesson when faced with the reality that now is the real world.

The emotions are mixed. Some are elated to be finished with several tough years at the grind. Others are sorrowful to leave friends; others fearful to lose the security of knowing where they will be next year. For years parents have said

"the college years are the best years of your life." Finally, the graduate can look back and measure Mama's words against his own experience.

Angela Blakely is graduating with a major in Early Childhood Education. When asked what she would have done differently if she had her four years to live over again, Angela said, "I wouldn't have taken the class overloads that I took . . . now that I've rushed through, I'm sad to leave." She feels "excited—ready to move on. All my friends are leaving and I will miss them but we can still keep in touch."

So, how will students who go out from Troy State University make a difference in our changing world? Statistics show that TSU students have a history of being snatched up by the best corporations, the best school systems, and the best corporations in the state. But how will they themselves keep from being just another statistic? Perhaps Angela Blakely's wish is true for the entire class of 1990. She wishes to be remembered as "someone who had her mind set on achieving but always took time to care and to show concern for those around her."

Our Town

by Thornton Wilder

The Troy State University Department of Speech and Drama opened its 1989-90 theater season with Thornton Wilder's "Our Town."

The popular play about life, death and the hereafter, follows the experiences of the people of the turn of the century.

"Our Town" is a perennial favorite with professional as well as amateur theater groups. It had a successful run on Broadway last year.

The story is told in episodic fashion by a "stage manager" narrator, and centers around Dr. Gibbs' son, George, and Emily Webb, the newspaper editor's daughter.

George and Emily are seen going to high school together, falling in love over sodas at the corner drugstore, being married, suffering tragedy as Emily dies giving birth to her second child, and being united at the graveside after Emily discovers how painful a return to the living can be.

Cast in major roles of the play were C.J. Wilson as the stage manager, Daniel Richwine as George, Leah Curtis as Emily, Kevin Peters as Dr. Gibbs, Rhonda Johnson as Mrs. Gibbs, Deidra Taylor as Mrs. Webb, and Todd Lith as Mr. Webb.

The Supporting cast included Sam Westmoreland, Danny Gilroy, Kelly Teague, Gianna Reilly, Michael Golebiewski, Shane Cunningham, Chuck Thomas, Vicki Pulford, Pat Waters, Jackie Parker, Amy Hunt, Shoran Hudspeth, Taylor Rushing, Will Black, Troy Mills, Niki Barefoot, Dalisia Taylor, Randall Ledkins, Kim Sanders, Cherly Plaster, Kelly Macleod, Vicki Brown, and Elizabeth McCarthy.

The production staff included Dr. David Dye, Chairmen of the Department of Speech and Drama, as director; Tom Smiley as designer/technical director, Jeff Taylor as lighting and sound engineer, Kurt McCall as costumer and Karen Hamilton as the assistant director/stage manager.

THE PIED PIPERS

The Troy State University Pied Pipers, a theatre-for-youth-performance group of the Troy State Speech and Drama Department is now in its 20th year, the group has developed an enthusiastic following among teachers and administrators in the Alabama public schools. Dr. David Dye, director of the Pied Pipers, attributes the wide support to the quality of the group's performance, the appropriateness of the performances to the targeted K-6th grade age groups and to the All-American wholesomeness of the TSU performers. The performances consist of a 50-minute collection of well-known children's stories which are told in a humorous way and which stress universal moral truths.

According to Dr. Dye, the performances might be labeled "theatre of the imagination" since scenery, costumes and properties are created in the minds of the audience. This year's performance will include "The Tortoise and the Hare," "The Mushroom in the Rain," "Sally the Skunk," and "The Three Little Pigs."

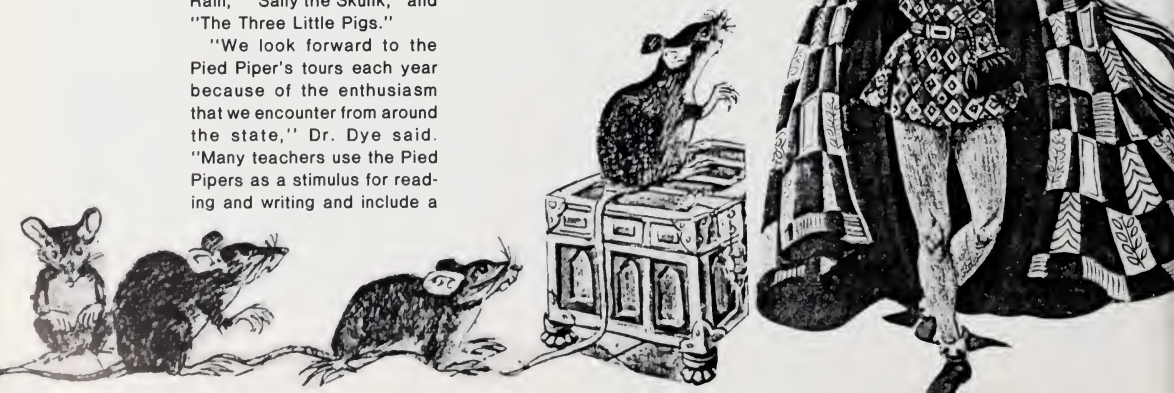

"We look forward to the Pied Piper's tours each year because of the enthusiasm that we encounter from around the state," Dr. Dye said. "Many teachers use the Pied Pipers as a stimulus for reading and writing and include a letter-writing project for their classes as a performance follow-up. The Pied Pipers prefer to think of those letters as fan mail. Through the years, we have been especially pleased to observe a deepening appreciation of live theatre in the elementary schools as curricular rather than extracurricular."

ALABAMA CELEBRATION

Troy State University Homecoming, honoring the theme of Alabama Reunion, heralded the slogan "Welcome, Sooner Home." As part of the Homecoming festivities, the University played host to the "Alabama Celebration," an eight-person, revolving entertainment group.

Throughout the Alabama Reunion campaign, "Alabama Celebration" has promoted the state through song, dance, and dialogue at official Alabama Reunion events. The four men and three women who make up the group were chosen from hundreds of singers, actors, and dancers who auditioned during the summer of 1981.

The performance included music either about the state or made famous by Alabamians. All musical numbers are accompanied with Alabama's history, geography, or culture. Most entertaining and well-received, the "Alabama Celebration" performance appeared at all age groups.

When the Alabama Reunion "Celebration" performed at the South Hall stage, one of the eight member ensembles was voted champion by the audience. At 4 feet 2 inches tall and a sophomore at Troy, Teresa Harrell may be a little hard to see from the back of the auditorium. But so did the crowd, making her Godlike rendition of "I've Got a Feeling" so loud, it's heard the entire duration of Tommy Wooten's famous "Stand By Your Man."

The musical group, being her first year and reason for continuing her education at Troy, have played in numerous productions, including "Our First Musical and Dance," "The New Musical Comedy," "The Opening Scene," "1776," and "Baroque."

Since 1981, 1982, 1983, and 1984, she has been star and the voted with "Alabama Celebration," and has had the opportunity to run around with a number of celebrities, including Jim Casperson, Eugene Flagg, Jerry Mathers, Alabama, George Lemoine, and Tommy Wooten. "I was really nervous about meeting them," she says. "Some of them were taller than I am, but it was fun. It's a real nice way to live."

Though she has received many more and wanted for multiple talents on many stages, there was no better first Troy TSM Homecoming. During the Alabama Reunion home, she will "Welcome Home, Sooner Home!"

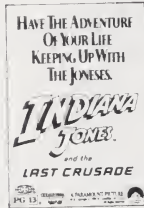

MOVIES

Wednesday night movies are a favorite pastime at Troy State. Sponsored by the Adams Center Union Board, it allows students to see top-rated movies at a low price. The cartoon before the movie returns the crowd to their childhood's Saturday mornings. The movies are shown twice on Wednesday, seven o'clock and nine-thirty. Students can get in with program stickers or by paying two dollars. Some of the movies shown this year have been "Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade," "The Abyss," "Turner and Hooch," "Beaches," and "Lethal Weapon" to name a few. These major motion pictures provided entertainment and relaxation for students.

Top: Shane Jolley hands his ticket to Christy Channave so he can get in to see "The Abyss."

Bottom: Students concentrate on the movie "The Abyss."

What do students enjoy about movies at T.S.U.?
 "It's a convenient and fun way to get away from your dorm room."
 "the hilarious cartoons at the beginning of the movies"
 "The students sound affects!" "The cartoons, the student enthusiasm and the low price."
 "I like it because I do not have to pay at the door. It is a good way to socialize."

Backcourt Posse

Troy State's first basketball band was up and jammin' at Trojan home games.

Most basketball bands are small versions of marching bands, but not so with TSU's ten-man band.

"We're trying to have something a little more unique," said pep band director and coordinator Ralph Ford. "We play stuff from the 60's, rock, contemporary pop and jazz."

"We're the only university I know of that has a rock-oriented pep band," Ford said. "It's a traditional rock band complimented with brass."

After seeing the need for a pep band to support the basketball team, Ford lined up the personnel, arranged some music, and got the whole movement started.

At the band's first appearance the crowd started calling them the "Backcourt Posse." Some of the band members overheard the name and liked it.

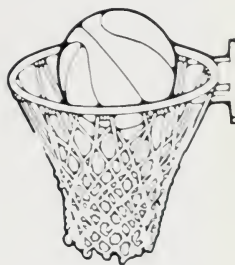

"The reception was good. We've gotten all good feedback, and the basketball team appreciates us being here," said Ford. "Coach Maestri and Coach Stewart were 100 percent behind the group and very supportive."

"We all have some say-so with what goes on. We get to pick a lot of the music and so on," said "Posse" drummer Kevin Warner.

"In the future we hope to play more Rolling Stones.. and contemporary pop," said guitarist Jamie Henderson.

"Eventually we plan to coordinate everything with the basketball team and the cheerleaders to make the whole game more of a show," said Ford. "It will eventually evolve into one big show working together to entertain the crowd."

C@SMIC the B-52's THING

The B-52's performed for an audience of approximately 1,979 in the steamy confines of the Sartain Hall.

The humid atmosphere did not deter the band or audience from having a good time. The band which includes the above members: Cindy Wilson, Sara Lee, and Fred Schneider played two encores.

New wave party band The B-52's dropped in on Troy State University for a Oct. performance in Sartain Hall.

Formed over 10 years ago in Athens, GA, the group is trying to make a comeback with a new album, "Cosmic Thing," and extensive touring.

If "Gilligan's Island" was set on a "Forbidden Planet," you might get an idea of the B-52's style. With a look at their recent videos of "Channel Z" and "Love Shack" on MTV, one can see why the band is known for a love of "junk culture."

Their trademark is the bouffant wigs that vocalists Cindy Wilson and Kate Pierson wear and outlandish clothes that come from the most exotic second-hand stores.

Along with Wilson and Pierson, the band includes vocalist Fred Schneider and guitarist Keith Strickland. Sara Lee, bass guitarist, formerly with the band Gang of Four, and drummer Zach Alford, are working with the band this tour.

They first came to attention in 1978 with the success of an independent single, "Rock Lobster," which earned them a contract with Warner Bros. Records.

The funky music of the B-52's and the energetic stage show, inspired the audience to "shake your honeybuns" as they do on the "Cosmic Thing" album's title song.

In closing, Schneider said, "College audiences are great," and that "Sartain is a great size, more intimate." Schneider also had some advice to give to students. "Keep an open mind, think for yourselves," he said. "Don't let rights get trampled on and do not be afraid of the 'L-liberal word,' it's a word of pride."

THE CHESTNUT BRASS COMPANY

The Chestnut Brass Company has earned international acclaim as the only brass quintet in the world which regularly performs on both historical and modern instruments. A complete collection of cornetti, sackbuts, keyed bugles and saxhorns provides the ensemble with this unique opportunity to present Renaissance and 19th century brass music authentically.

They have displayed this versatility in thousands of concerts at home and abroad, most notably at the Accademia de St. Cecilia in Rome and the Academia Internationale de Musique in Dijon, France. A finalist in the prestigious Naumburg Competition, the Philadelphia-based group has made guest appearances with many American orchestras and given recitals in 47 states.

Found in 1977, the Chestnut Brass Company has been active in the education of young people and takes time while on tour to offer clinics for college and high school musicians. Teachers have praised their informative and entertaining "Hot Air: The Story of Brass Instruments," a program developed specifically for children. Formerly guests faculty at the international Institute for Chamber Music in Munich, the quintet now serves on the wind faculty of the New School Institute at Temple University as an Ensemble-in-Residence.

The group is committed to expanding the repertoire presently available to brass players, both with its own transcriptions of classical and popular material, and through commissions. In the past three years they have premiered twelve major works by world-renowned composers, including Pulitzer Prize winners Leslie Bassett and Richard Wernick. Much of this new music, along with pieces for period instruments, can be heard on two recently released recordings on the Crystal and Musical Heritage labels. The Chestnut Brass Company has been featured on National Public Radio's "Performance Today," "Voice of America" broadcasts in China and Bavarian State Radio.

Cast of Characters

Director	David Dye

The cast of "Brighton Beach Memoirs" has made its production a success.

"It's certainly an attribute to the production staff and our Troy State actors for them to have given such a strong performance that it won over these harden national critics to consider them seriously," said Chairman Dr. David Dye of the Speech and Drama Department.

Once the time came for the cast to participate in the Alabama Shakespeare Festival, their decision for best show was "Brighton Beach Memoirs."

In December, the cast was selected by a regional selection committee as one of seven productions for the Regional American College Theater Festival held at the University of South Florida. While at the contest in Tampa, they were awarded the Directors' Choice Award for best overall production.

The cast has ranked third alternate to national festival, which means they are in the top ten productions from 600 entries in all 50 states.

"Troy State can be very, very proud," said Dr. Dye.

In the American College Student festival there are no classes and no divisions, it is simply competition with all college and university theater programs.

"It is really something for Troy State to have gone that far in this competition because they've been up against some of the finest theater programs.

"I'm thrilled that our students have continued to represent Troy State University in such a way to bring national recognition to the university," said Dr. Dye.

THE RIVALS

The Troy State University Speech and Drama Department presented Richard Brinsley Sheridan's popular 18th Century comedy of manners. "The Rivals" was presented in the new Adams Center Performing Arts Theatre.

The plot focuses on a wealthy, sentimental heroine Lydia Languish (played by Elizabeth Fowler) whose fortune is dependent upon the whims of her aunt, Mrs. Malaprop (played by Gianna Reilly). Lydia is in love with Capt. Jack Absolute (played by C.J. Wilson), alias Ensign Beverly. An attempt is made by the Captain's father and Lydia's aunt to match their children but confusion of identities due to the ensign's alias, leads to many comic incidents.

Several parallel plots centered around the theme of sentimental love, surface in the play as well. The play vacillates between high comedy and farce as it pokes not always gentle fun at excessive sentimentality and love. Mrs. Malaprop's ludicrous distortions of the most famous characters in English drama.

Lead characters included Sir Anthony Absolute (played by Kelly Teague), Bob Acres (played by Sam Westmoreland), Lucius O'Trigger (played by Danny Gilroy), Faulkland (played by Todd Lith), and Julia (played by Deidra Taylor).

Other members of the cast are Daniel Richwine as David; Michael Golebiewski as Fag; Karen Hamilton as Lucy; Shane Cunningham as the coachman; David Ferrell Dye as the boy; and Amy Hunt as the maid.

Dr. David Dye, chairman of the Speech and Drama Department, is director; Tom Smiley designed the scenery for the production; Jeff Taylor was the lighting designer and Margaret Pyfrom is costume designed for the production. Mack Hillman served as assistant director and stage manager.

RICHARD MARX

Richard Marx, who performed in the packed Garrett Coliseum February 27, is becoming the most successful artists in music history. Opening with his current single, "Too Late To Say Goodbye", the enthusiastic crowd rocked with Marx. The audience roared as he sang his chart-topping song "Right Here Waiting." The crowd got into the act as Richard encouraged the crowd to sing and clap to "Don't Mean Nothing." Opening for Marx was Tim Karr.

Richard Marx is sharing his good fortune, donating profits from his "Should've Known Better" single to the New York University division of pediatric surgery, giving profits from the song "Children of the Night" to the Children of the night program for teenage runaways, and performing a benefit concert for "Toys for Tots."

Richard's second album, Repeat Offender, proved to be no less successful than his debut album. In under six months of its release, Repeat Offender achieved triple-platinum status in the U.S. alone. All three singles from the album went top five, with "Satisfied" and "Right Here Waiting" reaching the #1 spot and "Angelia" going to #4. "Right Here Waiting" was certified platinum for single sales of over 1 million in the U.S. Richard has become the first solo artist in rock history to reach the top five with his string of seven consecutive singles.

WORLD TOUR

Oedipus The King

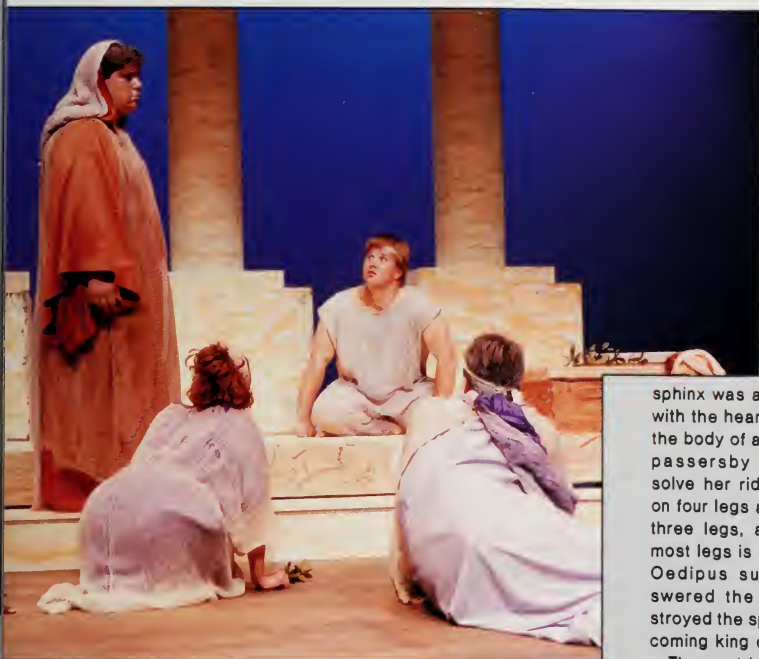

Sophocles' play "Oedipus The King" was first staged in Greece as part of a contest for tragedy around 430 B.C.

The play opened with the people of Thebes, stricken by a terrible plague, gathering in prayer. Oedipus, their king, assures them he has already moved to discover the cause of the plague by sending his brother-in-law, Creon, to the oracle at Delphi to learn what should be done. Creon returns with the word that the plague will vanish as soon as Thebes finds and casts out the murderer of the late king, Laius.

Sigmund Freud, the Austrian psychiatrist and founder of psychoanalysis, labeled the unconscious tendency of a child to be attached to the parent of opposite sex as the "Oedipus Complex." Oedipus had unwittingly killed his father and married his mother. The well-known ancient "riddle of a sphinx" is also connected with this play. the sphinx was a winged monster with the head of a woman and the body of a lion. It would kill passersby who could not solve her riddle "What goes on four legs and two legs and three legs, and when it has most legs is at its weakest?" Oedipus successfully answered the riddle and destroyed the sphinx prior to becoming king of Thebes.

The cast included C.J. Wilson as King Oedipus. Gianna Reilly as queen Jocasta, Shane Cunningham as Creon, Sam Westmoreland as Teiresias, Mack Hamilton as the Choragus, Todd Lith as the first shepherd, Danny Gilroy as the second shepherd, Taylor Rushing as the messenger, Ashley Mann as Antigone, Leah Curtis as Ismene, and

Will Black as a page. The director for the production is Lynne Balducci, a 1989 TSU theater graduate. Kelly Macleod is serving as costume designer, and Chuck Thomas is serving as the assistant director/stage manager.

Lu Ann Hampton Lavery Oberlander

"Lu Ann Hampton Lavery Oberlander" is one of three independent plays comprising the popular "A Texas Trilogy" which is set in Bradleyville, a small town in west Texas, where Lu Ann Hampton, 17, a high school cheerleader, dreams of far off places, but settles for marriage with a friend of her brother, a Korean War veteran.

The play focuses on Lu Ann in 1953, 1963, and 1973. "A Texas Trilogy" was staged by the Dallas Theater Center during 1973 and 1974 and at the John F. Kennedy Center for the performing Arts in the Eisenhower Theater in 1976 prior to its New York opening.

The all-student cast includes Deidra Taylor as Lu Ann; C.J. Wilson as her brother Skip Hampton; Dan Richwine as Lu Ann's high school sweetheart Billy Bob Wortman; Kelly Macleod as Lu Ann's mother Claudine; Jeff Morrison as Dale Lavery; Eric Williams as Red Grover; Mack Hillman as Rufe Phelps; Sam Westmoreland as Olin Potts; Danny Gilroy as Corky Oberlander; Michael Golebiewski as Milo Crawford; and Karen Hamilton as Lu Ann's daughter Charmaine.

Dr. David Dye, chairman of the Department of Speech and Drama directed the production. The production team included Tom Smiley as scenic designer/technical director and Jeff Taylor as lighting designer/sound engineer. Vick Fulford is serving as the assistant director/stage manager.

GREASE

Troy State University's Opera Workshop, under the direction of Dr. Philip Kelley, presented the 50's musical "GREASE" in Smith Hall Auditorium.

The musical was made popular by the movie "GREASE" starring Olivia Newton John and John Travolta.

It tells the story of a group of teenagers at Rydell High School in the 50's and is centered around the characters of Sandy, a sweet, wholesome, naive, and cute (Sandra Dee type) teenager whose love interest is Danny, a well-built, nice-looking, cool, easy-going guy who is the leader of the

"Burger Palace Boys."

Playing the role of Sandy was Miss Angela Gibson, a junior at Charles Henderson High School.

The role of Danny was played by Allen McCall, Jr., of Donalsonville, Ga. Kurt, as he is known on campus, is no stranger to the TSU stage. He played the role of Sir Lancelot in "Camelot" and was in Drama Department productions of "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" and "She Stoops To Conquer."

Others in the cast included Johnaca Kelley as Rizzo, Van English as the Teen Angel, Jeff Tisdale as Vince Fontaine, Karen L. Hamilton as Frenchy, Kelly D. Macleod as Jan, Felicia J. Pierce as Marty, Richard Stewart as

Doody, Chuck Thomas as an Sikes as Roger and Amy Hunt as Miss Lynch. Eugene, Danny Gilroy as Ken- ickie, Deidra Taylor as Patty, Chad Tortorice as Sonny, Bri-

SHOWTIME

The Sigma Chi pledges display a bit of Trojan "Patriotism" in their winning skit.

Activities during Troy State's homecoming week were designed to honor new chancellor Dr. Jack Hawkins, alumni and school supporters. Various competitions highlighted the week's activities and Sigma Chi was the winner of the overall homecoming contest.

With a first place in the Thursday night skit contest, third place in the banner display and first place in the yard display, the Sigma Chi's amassed 45 points to seize the win.

Second place went to Sigma Pi, which trailed the Sigma Chi's closely in overall competition. The Sigma Pi's won first place for the banner display, placed second in the yard display.

Third place overall went to the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority. The Alpha Gam's were second in the skit contest and second in the "Paint the Town Red and Grey" contest.

Other individual winners were Pi Kappa Phi with a first place in the "Paint the Town" contest and third in the yard display.

The Phi Mu's were third in the skit contest and third in the "Paint the Town" contest.

Gamma Beta Phi won second in the banner display.

TSU-TV

The Troy State University Television System (TSU-TV) is an integral part of the department of radio and television. Housed in Wallace Hall, the TSU-TV facilities are designed to enhance career progression of Television Broadcast Journalism students enrolled in the Hall School of Journalism, with the local community by offering local TV news and programming via two cablevision facilities serving over 5,000 households in the Troy and Pike county area. Guided by a professional TV staff, students have access to four video editing suites, two TV studios with news and interview sets, television production control room and master control with satellite downlink capabilities. For news and production purposes, TSU-TV is equipped with three studio cameras and three field cameras, allowing students the opportunity to further expand their "hands-on" knowledge of the electronic media.

Under a student news director appointed by the staff, Television Broadcast Journalism majors produce, anchor, and air Nooncast and TSU Nightly News Monday thru Friday, serving in such capacities as News Producer, Assignment Editor, Director, Weather and Sports Anchor, Videographers, Reporters, Audio Controller, Graphic Design Operator, Video Tape Operator, Teleprompt Controller, and TV Studio Camera Personnel.

The Associated Press has acknowledged the uniqueness of the Troy State University Television System by awarding several students Associated Press Television Awards for Outstanding Broadcast Journalism Accomplishments.

D A Z COVER GIRL IN THE SPOTLIGHT !

This year's Miss TSU pageant was one that Leslie Fuller will always remember as special. But she was not the only one who notes the uniqueness to this year's pageant. On the night of April 24th, Leslie was crowned Miss TSU 1990 as well as being honored with the talent and swimsuit awards. Only one other pageant contestant in Troy State history has been honored in this way. In 1976, Kathy Mowery also made a clean sweep by winning all awards as well as being crowned Miss TSU.

Singing "Let's Hear it for Me," Leslie wowed both audience and judges with her talent. TSU has witnessed Leslie's singing in 1987 when she was awarded second runner up and in 1988 being awarded fourth runner up. Last year, Leslie held the Miss Southeast Alabama title.

This year, the opening number featured all contestants who modeled "right off the page" to the song "CoverGirl" by the singing group, New Kids on the Block. Resembling a live photo shoot, the girls showed a variety of the latest fashions.

Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award

The Sydney Sullivan Award is the highest award presented at Troy State University. Receiving this honor were Leslie Anne Jones, John Ricky Padgett, and Connie Webb. Given annually to one male and female graduating student and one non-student, this award topped the convocation ceremony. Receiving this honor was Leslie Anne Jones, her dedication, loyalty and enthusiasm inspire those who live and work with her. Her academic and extracurricular accomplishments attest to the self-discipline and quiet spirit associated with the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award.

John Ricky Padgett was also a recipient of this award. His honesty, integrity, and compassion are qualities which have earned the respect and admiration of students, faculty, and staff. His dedication to the support, encouragement, and spiritual leadership cause him to be a worthy recipient of the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award.

Connie Anderson Webb, who has worked at Troy State for 11 years, is an assistant professor of nursing and is a nursing recruiter. Mrs. Webb's genuine and abiding concern of the welfare of others has earned the respect and admiration of students, faculty, and staff, as well as members of the greater community. Her positive, sincere approach to life enables her to lead naturally, inspiring others by example - characteristic long associated with the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award.

Ingalls Award

Dr. Charles Chapman was presented the Ingalls Award which honored him for his excellence in classroom teaching. This prestigious award is the highest teaching honor at Troy State University and has been given annually since 1970. Besides being chosen by the students for this award, Chapman also received a plaque and $1000. Chapman has been at Troy State since 1986 and became head of the biology department in the spring of 1987.

Upon receiving this award Chapman said that he will continue to push for excellence.

Dr. Chapman has been actively involved with numerous campus organizations and committees. He is the faculty advisor for the marine biology program, biology education, environmental science and Alpha Epsilon Delta. His committee memberships include University Honors Council, Who's Who Ad Hoc, Pre Medical Advisory, Rhodes Scholarship and All University on Institutional Effectiveness. He has also served as a judge for both the South Alabama Regional and State Science Fair and is a Radiation Safety officer.

Dr. Chapman is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, Alpha Epsilon Delta and Kappa Delta Pi honor societies, and American Society of Microbiology, Institute of Food Technologists and American Association for the Advancement of Science professional societies.

QUOTEABLE

"I've changed my major since last year and it seems I'm getting used to the rush of school. I've noticed, too, that people pull together more, not just for TSU, but for everyone."

QUOTABLE

"To me, student's attitudes are worse especially when they join a fraternity, sorority, or athletic organization. Attitudes are shaped by the organization one is involved in; the campus is not unified. Students should take advantage of the opportunities Troy's small campus offers."

Troy State University's greek system is slowly deteriorating. In the past year, big brothers and little sisters have been disbanded and invitations to greek parties have been made mandatory.
These coupled together make greek life seem less sociable."
Mike Spivey

ORGANIZATIONS

1990

ACEI is an organization for students who excel in the field of childhood education.

Alpha Phi Sigma

Alpha Phi Sigma is an honor society for students who maintain a 3.0 GPA overall and a 3.2 GPA in either criminal Justice or corrections. This organization is for students that excel their knowledge in the field of Criminal Justice and Corrections.

Members of Alpha Phi Sigma include Front: Wendy Bowen and Back: Freddie Brooks, Dr. Charles Jones, Dennis Griffith, and Jon Capps.

ACUB

The Adams Center Union Board was established to provide a wide variety of entertainment and activities for Troy State students. Just for the purchase of a program sticker, students can enjoy Wednesday night movies, big name concerts, and many other events.

After a day of stressful work, Billy Daniels takes a relaxing break as he poses for a photograph. Billy is the Publicity Chairman for the Adams Center Union Board.

Afro American Society

Row one: Fred Holmes, Mark Cady and Antjuan Marsh. Row two: Michelle Collins, Elizabeth Glasscho and Celeste Eskridge.

As an organization striving to better campus activities for everyone, the Afro American Society is involved with many worthwhile events. They hold a silent march in memory of Martin L. King, Jr. and throughout February observe black history month. They spend this time recognizing black leaders and their accomplishments throughout history. The Africa Culture Exchange is another important part of the Afro American Society where Exchange students from Africa come to Troy State. They not only do things to better their organization, but also hold programs to educate and increase student awareness. Some of these programs are on drug awareness and sickle-cell anemia. The Afro American Society strives to involve everyone on campus and plan programs for the benefit of all students.

Elizabeth Glasscho, Mark Cady and Antjuan Marsh discuss upcoming events for the following quarter.

Top: Afro-American Society members take time out of their busy schedules to work on crafts and have fun. Left: Mark Cady, Keith Sauls and Liz Glasscho work on Easter baskets and goodies for some of the less fortunate residents of Pike County.

Alpha Epsilon Delta

These pre-medical students strive to excel in the area of academics, as well as help their community. Many of these students go on to medical school to become medical professionals. Dr. Charles Chapman is the advisor of this pre-med honor society.

Members: Row one: Yvette Williamson, Karen Locke, Amy M. Mitchell and Sandra Davis. Row two: Katrina Mansfield and Tairita Brown. Row three: Lee Dean, Dr. Charles Chapman-Advisor and Ben Griggs.

Beta Upsilon Sigma

The business world is a competitive market. The students belonging to Beta Upsilon Sigma are juniors and seniors who have proved to be competitive by ranking in the top five and ten percent of their classes respectively. These students are the business leaders of the future.

Alpha Epsilon Rho

As one of Alabama's best student operated television stations, Alpha Epsilon Rho has a great deal of pressure to stay that way. One of the main reasons that AERho is so successful is because each student takes part in every aspect of production, whether it be in front of the camera or behind it, editing copy or writing it, working on the technical aspects or whatever, these students gain a lot of experience in the field of broadcast journalism.

Alpha Lambda Delta

Dawn Hutchinson awards Rosalina Lidh with a special scholarship.

The most difficult time for a student is probably his or her freshman year. The members of Alpha Lambda Delta have proven to themselves and to their parents that they can handle all the stresses that the first year of college contains. Alpha Lambda Delta is an honor society that promotes high academic achievement. The qualifications for Alpha Lambda Delta are obtaining a 3.5 GPA or higher and being a freshman.

New Initiates: Row one: Erin Elmore, Amy Beasley, Susan Keil, Kimberlyn Alford, Hope Condrey, Sherry Lambert, Bonnie Tate, Angie Hammett, Katerina Senecal and Wade Stinson. Row two: Stacie Collins, Brian Goodwin, Mark Pullen, Craig Goodwin, Nir-mol Podder, Dana Webster, Christy Channave, Melissa Fields and Wendy Bovee. Row three: Travis Capps, Dee Dupree, Deana Folmar, Ginger Robinson, Ashli Hamilton, Rayanne Rankin and Julie Cummings.

Alpha Psi Omega

Alpha Psi Omega is an honor society for outstanding students in the dramatic arts. The members of this organization are actively involved in campus functions, as well as theater oriented service projects.

Backstage preparations are as vital to theater as the performances themselves. Lynne Balducci is shown here making adjustments to the costume of Sam Westmoreland.

Arnold Air Society

The Squadron of the Arnold Air Society at TSU is an organization of elite AFROTC Corp Cadets whose purpose is to promote and further the goals of the United States Air Force ROTC and to support their community.

Row one: Mary Harper, Gene Shiflett, Misty Casson, Tobi Sears and Lt. Col. Harry Crook. Row two: John Herman, Bryan Burns, Rich Donley, Bryce Snider, Chris Morgan, Frank Battistelli, Eric Stephens and Rick Boutwell.

Officers for the Arnold Air Society:
Row one: Chris Morgan-Comptroller, John Herman, Mary Harper, Kelly Thurlow-Public Affairs and Lt. Col. Harry Crook. Row two: Eric Stephens-Vice Commander, Fred Monroe, John Lawhorn, Glenn Fuqua, Rich Donley-Training officer.

These four members of the Arnold Air Society enjoy gathering after meetings to discuss plans for another successful year.

Angel Flight

Meetings are important to each member as they learn and participate in important campus activities.

As an active member of this organization, Jennifer Stephens plays bingo at the Pike Manor Nursing Home during one of their many community services.

Officers: Jennifer Stephens-Public Affairs, Sandra Brooks-Administrative Officer, Jenny Martin-Vice-Commander, Diane Cease-Commander, Shoran Hudspeth-Director of Operations, Jana Lamberth- Chief of Protocol and Mary Lacey-Comptroller.

Shoran Hudspeth and Eric Stephens are leaders during their weekly meetings as they prepare their organizations for upcoming activities.

Angel Flight, a service organization associated with the Air Force ROTC, works with the community and other organizations on various projects. They not only work with the Baptist Children's Home, the Pike Manor Nursing Home, and the Veteran's Administration Hospital in Tuskegee, but also work on environmental and educational issues. Angel Flight also participates in various campus activities and support the AFROTC and Arnold Air Society on many of their own community projects.

Art Guild

Row one: Reese McCurdy, Tommy Hoomes, Felicia Pierce, Pat Duke, Natalie Litwinowicz, Keith Skelton, Treci Bennett, and D.C. Locke. Row two: Betsy Jinright, Elaine Blair, Liz McCarthy, Dee Perry, Alicia Payne, Fannie Easterling, and Jessica Sturdivant. Row three: Ruth Brown, Jimmy Wazny, and Shannon Legg.

Liz McCarthy and Dee Perry enjoy talking to one another.

Art Guild students relax in the atrium between classes.

Sculpting is one of the many artistic expressions learned by members.

Treci is careful not to cut herself on the glass.

Tommy displays his self-portraits to other members of the Art Guild.

Bowling Club

A newly established organization on campus is the Bowling Club. Members are full-time students with at least a 2.0 GPA and a sincere interest in the sport of bowling. The Bowling Club participate with other schools in Florida, Georgia and Alabama in friendly competition. One of the highlights this year was the Southern Bowling Conference in Nashville, TN where TSU's men's division placed sixth and the women's division placed fourth.

Row one: Frank Miles, Harold Street, Keith Sanders and Mike Rivers. Row two: Tammy Lynn, Lisa Moran, Karla Duke and Amanda Nelson.

Lambda Alpha Epsilon

Criminal Justice is a booming profession. Lambda Alpha Epsilon promotes active pre-involvement in the profession of Criminal Justice. They also stress community awareness and student participation. These students are willing to do their share for the betterment of the United States.

Beta Beta Beta

Karen Locke, Sonya Gautney, Michael Roshon, Kim Rice, Amy Larimer, Regina Horne, Jenny Girdner, Gilbert Bonce and Teresa Moore-Advisor.

Students who wish to learn more about biological research may join Beta Beta Beta which is advised by Mrs. Teresa Moore. Beta Beta Beta provides opportunities to experiment and learn more about the world we live in by using the knowledge available in the field of natural sciences.

Officers. Michael Roshon-Vice-President, Kim Rice-Secretary, Amy Larimer-Treasurer, and Regina Horne-President.

Baptist Campus Ministries

Row one: Dwayne Lock, Row two: Monica Fulmer, Christy Currington, Michelle Shiver, Penny Lewis, Susanne Hammond, Candace Hughes, Patsy Self, Leah Carrier, Candy Summerlin, Tracey Lamb, Kim Dykes, Traci Atchison, and Kim Lamkin, Row

three: Julie Key, Vickie Williamson, Robin Hanner, Marion Harris, Angela Rutherford, Donna Fowler, Tronya Gunter, and Jenny Panhurst, Row four: David Spires, Evangeline Lemari, Richard Griffith, Stacey Coates, Kevin Goodnight, David Dawson, Matthew Perry, Carla Clansmith, and Karla Bradford, Row five: Eric Jackson, Jimmy Vinson, Eric Webb, Jody Shealy, Ronnie Turner, Paul Robinson, Edwin Johnson, Deana Dukes, and Ken May.

Susanne Hammond takes time to discuss important issues with the students of BCM

David Spires and Julie Key enjoy spending time with each other through BCM.

Row two: Stacey Coates, Patsy Self, Angela Rutherford, Kevin Goodnight, Tronya Gunter, and Ken May.

Becoming close friends, just as Angela Rutherford and Marion Harris have, is a special part of the love at BCM.

Serving as a very active organization on campus is the Baptist Campus Ministry. Ken May serves as Campus Minister and helps organize student activities. Weekly activities at BCM include Alpha Omega and a Bible study. Ministry teams travel to surrounding communities to share their talents with various church groups and schools teaching them valuable lessons. They also participated in their first annual "Walk to Win" which was a fun walk to raise money for summer missions. Several students plan to work as summer missionaries in different states to share their teachings with others. The BCM provides opportunities for spiritual growth and fellowship with others, and also provides fun-filled activities.

Making posters for events such as a volleyball tournament for campus organizations takes time out of Christy Currington's busy schedule

Christian Student Center

The Christian Student Center offers fun times with a Christian environment and encouragement for students. Part of this is due to Monday night devotionals and weekend retreats. Another aspect of the CSC is the adopt-a-student program set up so the students really do have a home away from home. The CSC encourages Christian activities and friendships.

Meeting a new student is an agreeable part of Wednesday night classes according to Alan Mullins.

The Christian Student Center is an excellent way to spend time with friends.

Director of the CSC, Randal Meyers, speaks to a group of the CSC members.

Randal Meyers and Herby McCall discuss the agenda for the evening.

Row one: Bobby Templin, Lloyd Conner, Tony Kantos and Elizabeth Miller.
Row two: Kim Knighten, Amy Sanders, Heather Waters, Katherine Hays, Dyan Newman, Angela Latham, Debra Malloy and Randal Meyers-Director.

Row three : Faye Humes, Julie Johnson, Marsha Roarke, Alan Mullins, Cheryl Chandler, Jim English, Mitch Bovington and Lori Poe. Row four: Zane Kirkland, Jay Cleghorn, Herby McCall and Mike McClain.

While waiting for the class to begin, these CSC students enjoy fellowship-ping with one another.

Zane Kirkland and Ginger Robinson meet each other for the first time at the CSC.

Collegiate Music Educators National Conference or CMENC is Troy State's music club for music education majors. These students work hard everyday either in the band or as part of collegiate singers.

College Republicans

The College Republicans are making a come-back this year. With a new president, Erik Bennett, and a new advisor, Dr. Robert Pullen, these republicans want to take a stand on political issues and make them known to other students on campus. Future politicians may be in this group of men and women.

Palladium

Vince Stansbury
Editor-in-chief

Yearbook production has become more than just plopping pictures on a page and throwing some off-the-wall copy together to match the pictures; it is a history book telling the story of one year at Troy State University.

Putting a book of this size together requires a great deal of time, commitment and lots and lots of patience. This year's staff has pulled off miracles; everything from being 64 pages ahead of deadline to doing a months worth of work in one weekend.

The production of the 1990 Palladium began last summer in Rustin, Louisiana. Amy Evans, Organizations Editor and Vince Stansbury, Editor-in-Chief attended a college yearbook workshop conducted by Ohio University at Louisiana Tech University. This workshop allowed several professionals to examine past volumes of the Palladium and give advice as to how the book might be improved. These ideas were then put to use and several changes were made.

The contribution of many students and faculty helped the staff reach its goal of producing an outstanding book. To achieve this goal teamwork was a must. It is for the students to judge whether it has been achieved. The result is in the reader's hands.

Student Government

The Student Government Association completed a busy, successful year working to improve services at Troy State University. Some of the things they discussed and researched for students were improving parking conditions and improving campus lighting. A telephone directory and helpline were among other things considered throughout the year. The SGA also remained busy with many annual traditions such as Homecoming, the Easter egg hunt, and a softball tournament. Homecoming proved to be a great success welcoming Dr. Jack Hawkins, family, and friends home for an "Alabama Reunion" Homecoming. Making strides to complete a long-term goal, the SGA worked with the Earth Day Environmental program. The SGA Endowment Scholarship program was also undertaken as a new project. Another event enjoyed this past year, which promises to be an annual one, was a Lawn Party held on the day of the Jacksonville State football game. With the goal of heightening students involvement on campus, the dedicated officers and senators worked hard to insure that the students of Troy State had the best year yet.

Obviously, Communication plays a vital role in the Student Nurses Association. Renee Key, Kathy Helms, and Yvette Jinright take a break from their busy schedule to enjoy a discussion about the School of Nursing program.

Tau Beta Sigma

Tau Beta Sigma is a national band fraternity for women whose goal is to excel in music. Tau Beta Sigma women promote achievement while serving the Sound of the South band.

Trojan Ambassadors

Ambassadors Vince Stansbury and Lonna Smith give campus tours of the Adams Center.

Frank Dubberley, Neal Nash and Steve Shamburger.

This outstanding group of students are the official hosts and hostesses of the university. Some of the Ambassadors jobs include giving campus tours, being ushers for campus programs, welcome prospective students and their parents and assisting Chancellor and Mrs. Hawkins in the Homecoming reception. Members of Trojan Ambassadors are selected each spring by an application and interview process.

The Tropolitan

The Tropolitan staff is an important source of media on campus. They take time out of busy schedules to gather news stories concerning events on campus and to form a forum for student opinions. The staff consists of 25 hard-working members and the Editorial Board consists of 8 members. They each join their time and talent to gain job experience and also for the enjoyment of informing others.

Row one: Julie Key, Ricky Johnson and Cinnamon Bair. Row two: Michael Wickersheim, Mark Watkins, Lance Wallace and Tony Harris.

Above: Editing copy before it appears in the paper is an important part of Kellie Suddeth and Ken Gaines' job on the staff.

Right: Lance Wallace, the Editor of the Tropolitan, puts in much time and effort on important layouts.

Working efficiently to correct mistakes, Ruth Rosentrater proofreads layouts for the paper.

Above: Student workers offer a helping hand to the Tropolitan when it is needed.

Left: Ricky Johnson prepares his work for the Tropolitan in order for it to be ready to be printed for Thursday's addition.

Trojan Hostesses

During the fall quarter, a group of women devote their Saturdays to recruit potential football players. The Trojan Hostesses are the official representatives of Troy State football.

University Honors Alliance

The University Honors Alliance was formed in 1988 by the Student Honors Advisory Council. This council is made up of students representing all areas of academic life at Troy State University. Duties of the Honors Alliance Council include recruiting scholars, distributing information, and assisting in the advisement of students. Officers for the 1989-90 Honors Alliance include Suzie Hart-Treasurer, Ray Winborne-President, Stephanie Medley-Secretary and Julie Nolan-Vice President.

Wesley Foundation

Some students at Wesley relax while listening to the speaker for the evening.

Row one: Tammy Mauldin, Susie Wismer, David Long and Robin Snider.

Row two: Sherry Green, Franklin Pickle, John Paul Jones, Trey Baggett, Cassie Chestnut, Christy Clark, Stacey Wade, Sherri Jeffcoat-Advi-

Row three: Ian Jones, Tommy Sutton, Betsy White, Todd Russell, Amy Waller, Al Williamson, Tracey Spivey, Donna Kilpatrick, Jon Kilpatrick, Jimmy Jeffcoat-Advisor.

The Wesley Foundation takes pride in the fact that they are capable of meeting the needs of all. On the spiritual level Wesley has Christian speakers and Bible studies. Although providing a Christian atmosphere is the primary goal of Wesley, they also have other activities like intramurals, ping-pong and organized group events. The students of Wesley are good friends and are willing to help each other in any situation.

Officers: Row one: Todd Russell-Outreach Committee, Sherry Green-Social Events Committee, Susie Wismer-Athletic Director and David

Long-Social Events Committee. Row two: Tommy Sutton-Athletic Director, Robin Snider-President, Betsy White-Outreach Committee, Christy Clark-

Choir Director and Tracey Spivey-Social Events Committee.

Women's Residence

Serving others is the main objective of Women's Residence. With the help of Laurie Herndon, this group of ladies aide the students who live on campus in one of the five dormitories provided for women. Not only do each of the resident directors, resident assistants, and desk assistants help in solving major problems in the dorms throughout the year, but they also lend a helping hand even for small, menial problems whenever possible. The friendly attitudes and smiling faces offer a home away from home atmosphere. These ladies have a very serious responsibility and they each consider their job a special one.

Band

Christina Tyler and Andrea Grice concentrate on playing the piccolo.

THE SOUND OF THE SOUTH plays a very important part of many campus activities. They not only play at sports events and encourage Trojan spirit, but they also participate in community activities. Directed by Dr. John M. Long, the band has also taken part in exhibitions throughout many southern states. With much hard work and effort, they have succeeded in thrilling audiences and offering a valuable source of entertainment to this area.

Glen Wallace and Chris Smith use a lot of hot air blowing their horns for the Trojans.

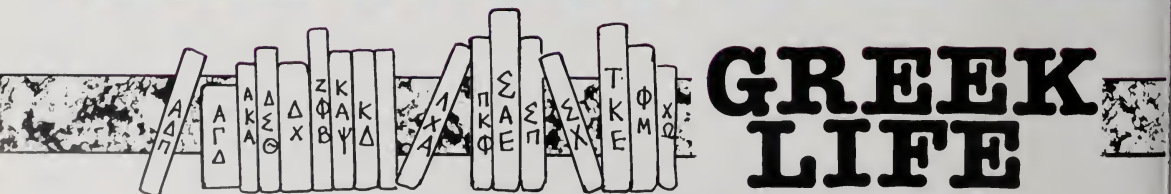

Playing his trumpet long and loud during halftime is John B. Richard.

GREEK LIFE

Check out the New Tradition

IT'S

Funny world we live in. With all of the new things around us to experience, some old traditions are not worth missing out on. While going away to college is an experience in itself, becoming a member of the Greek world is an experience unmatched and learning about this new world is nothing to take lightly.

Orientation into the Greek way of life begins by participating in a phenomenon called RUSH. This little four letter word conjures up thoughts of hard work, fun, and friendships in the minds of many Greeks. A Rushee who is experiencing this sensation for the first time may not know what to expect when walking into a chapter room or fraternity house for Rick Cevera and Charla Farmer enjoy the Indian Summer weather during Miss Fall Rush.

GREEK TERMINOLOGY

Accept: When a female rushee accepts a sorority's invitation to return to other rush parties.

Alumna: A female college graduate.

Alumnus: A male college graduate.

Buckley: Grade release form which men must sign before a fraternity may offer them a bid.

Candlelight: Ceremony common among sororities to reveal when a member is lavalered or ingaged.

I.F.C.: Interfraternity Council; Fraternities governing body which is composed of members from each recognized fraternity on campus.

Lavalere: A pendant worn on a chain around the neck of a Greek.

Legacy: The son or daughter of a Greek.

Open Bid: Invitation of membership given by a sorority after Formal Rush has concluded.

Panhellenic: Sororities official governing body which is composed of members of each recognized sorority on campus.

Pledge: Someone who has accepted a bid and who is working toward his/her initiation.

the first time. But any nervous jitters he or she may feel is usually overcome by the excitement of making new friends and finding a "home."

Rush is only the first step in experiencing life as a Greek. When a Rushee decides he or she wants to become a member of a Fraternity or Sorority, the Rushee then enters the Greek "toddler" stage known as pledgship. This pledgship usually lasts one quarter depending on the criteria different organizations specify that a pledge must meet to become an initiated member. Most Greeks will agree that being a pledge is the busiest, most fun and endearing quarter of college. Typically, a Pledge's schedule will include supporting and playing in inter-mural ballgames, social "swaps" with other Greeks, lots of parties, a few study-halls, and many memorable times shared with their Greek brothers and sisters.

So, "Why go Greek?" Because it's the best thing to do in college, or because the Greek system at TSU is so great? While all of those answers are good ones, becoming a Greek is an important personal decision because being a part of it is a strong foundation to building relationships with people you can count on. Having Greek brothers and sisters is not a new tradition, but an old one. If you think the Greek life is ancient history — think again!

Alpha Delta Pi's motto "We Live For Each Other" is held true by every sister of the Epsilon Kappa chapter at Troy State University. Since January 28, 1967, the ADPi's have been an active and influential group at Troy State. Not only do they cherish their sisterhood, but they also have great spirit. The ADPi's had a blast at their pledge formal at Montgomery's Riverfront Sheraton and at their spring formal on the Alabama Riverboat. To support their philanthropy, the Ronald McDonald House, Alpha Delta Pi held the annual "Most Wanted Man" contest.

Alpha Delta Pi has accumulated many honors and activities which this year included editor of the Tropicitan, Troy State University cheerleader, Pre College Orientation leader, and Trojan hostesses and ambassadors. They also captured Sigma Chi Miss Fall Rush, Kris Luhmann; Sigma Alpha Epsilon Sexy Legs, Jennifer Edgar; and Sigma Pi Snowbunny, Garyn Harrington.

ADPi was led this year by President, Patty McFillen; Executive Vice President, Tina Bagley; Pledge Education Vice President, Zan Quinn; Treasurer, Sara Palmer; Recording Secretary, Cara McClellan; and Corresponding Secretary, Jen Pantton.

When the Alpha Gams come around, enthusiastic voices can be heard chanting a familiar tune of "friendship, love, and loyalty." Whether they are cheering their basketball team to victory or supporting each other to achieving personal best, these "true blue old chums" can turn a tune into reality.

Recognized on campus in Red-Buff-and-Green, the Gamma Sigmas are most proud of their recent honor in receiving runner up to the Annulet. This national Alpha Gam award was received in Dallas last summer at a national convention.

These squealing squirrels can be found wearing cheer-leading uniforms, performing on stage, studying behind reading glasses or heading up meetings in other TSU organizations. They are grateful for the communities reception in helping to raise money for Juvenile Diabetes Foundation by attending their annual Spring Fling Carnival. A favorite Alpha Gam memory is Black Tie formal which was held March 2 at the Sheraton River Front Hotel in Montgomery. They are most proud of their newly initiated sisters who hold the key in continuing such a strong chapter at Troy State.

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority was founded at Howard University in Washington, D.C. in 1908. Alpha Kappa Alpha was formed by the inspiration and dedication of its original founders and has since grown to international status, being recognized as the first Black-Greek letter sorority. Today, membership for the sorority has surpassed 50,000 individuals and hundreds of graduate and undergraduate chapters. With such a large membership, Alpha Kappa Alpha members realize the importance of individuality and the strengths of women as they continue working towards common goals and values.

In 1978, Mu Alpha Chapter was chartered at TSU initiating fifteen positive minded, energetic young women known as the "15 Precious Moments." Today, Mu Alpha has grown to a sisterhood whose members are involved in many campus activities such as campus outreach, TSU pageant contestants, honor societies, SGA, TSU Homecoming queen, being just a few.

The Mu Alpha chapter sees the importance in providing leadership programs and services to the youth in the community.

Among Alpha Kappa Alpha activities are: RIF (Reading is Fundamental), Drug Abuse Seminars for elementary and middle school aged youth, baby food drive, and volunteer services to Kelley Kare and Head-Start Centers.

The ladies of Alpha Kappa Alpha realize that success today depends on God, the community, and sisterly love. For sister to AKA's means togetherness, love, and pride, which in turn brings joy, beauty, and success. It is easy to identify the Alpha Kappa Alpha woman- a sophisticated lady pretty in pink and green, and spreading sisterly love from one Soror to another.

The sisters of AKA benefit themselves as well as the community by participating in Troy's Head-Start Center for children.

DELTA SIGMA THETA

eventy-seven years ago, twenty-two women had to go upon a mission to make the world a little greater and in 1913 founded DELTA SIGMA THETA

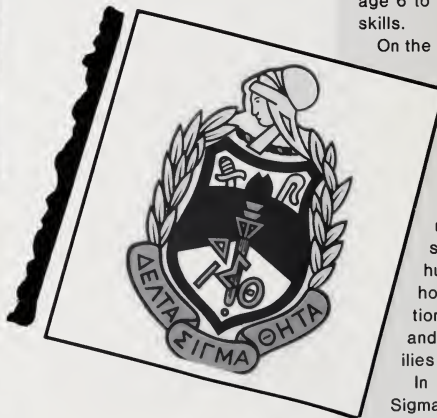

Delta Sigma Theta is a sorority dedicated to public service and the advancement of society. It is particularly concerned with the progress of the individual in the areas of education, political awareness and economic advancement.

At the national level, Delta Sigma Theta has established a scholarship and tuition fund for female collegians. It was one of the first organizations to support both the association of cancer control, now known as the American Cancer Society, and the National Council of Negro Women. Its newest program, "School America," teaches children age 6 to 10 valuable reading skills.

On the local level, Nu Theta chapter of Delta Sigma Theta continues to uphold the value and ideals of the sorority. The chapter frequently visits the nursing home, sponsors Easter egg hunts at the children's home, and gives donations of food, clothing, and toys to needy families in the community.

elta Chi Brotherhood of a lifetime ... Founded as a law fraternity, Delta Chi continues to stand for and promote classical values, justice, integrity of purpose, close and abiding friendship, moral strength, intellectual curiosity, and achievement. As our second century approaches, the operative word for Delta Chi is opportunity.

Opportunity is what the Troy State Chapter of Delta Chi has offered its 600 plus members for the past 24 years. Founded April 2, 1966 as the first chartered fraternity on campus, Delta Chi has a strong history and tradition based on leadership, scholarship, brotherhood, and social activities.

Delta Chi has continued to make history and to carry on traditions throughout this school year. Delta Chi initiated 30 new brothers into their chapter this fall, celebrated Founder's Day on October 13, 1989 for their national ninety-ninth anniversary, participated in intramural sports, and showed school spirit during the week of Homecoming and as the TSU Basketball Spirit winners. The brothers of Delta Chi hosted ski trip 1990, winter formal, a winter campout, beach party, and a spring luau.

Nothing beats the feeling of pride, goal sharing, group achievement, growing together, and making dreams a reality found in the participation of the opportunities of Delta Chi. Delta Chi is based on deep traditions of success, dependence, and brotherhood. To be a part of the best is to experience the "Brotherhood of a Lifetime."

ZETA

In 1982, Zeta Phi Beta was established on Troy State Campus. Since then, the sisters of Zeta Phi Beta have grown to love one another, to contribute to the campus, and to benefit the community.

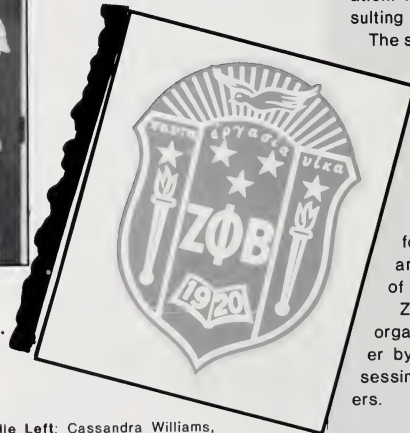

The sisters of Zeta Phi Beta hold offices in the African American Society and the Troy State University Gospel Choir. Michelle Collins, the president of Zeta Phi Beta, has been named College Zeta of the Year and receives her award March 11 at the Finer Womanhood Luncheon.

Becoming a member of the Zeta Phi Beta sorority begins with RUSH in February. After meeting the qualifications and receiving an invitation, one will become a member of the Archonian Club. The AC must learn the history of Zeta Phi Beta and complete a service project. The AC then becomes a pledge and is ready for initiation. This a long process resulting in life-long sisterhood.

The sisters of Zeta Phi Beta collect money throughout the year for the March of Dimes. The Stork's Nest, a Zeta Phi Beta national project, is a way to help unwed mothers, comfort homeless children, and counsel the victims of drug abuse.

he aim of college and fraternity life is to provide the climate within which students may acquire a sound moral, intellectual, and social basis for effective living. Kappa Alpha Psi seeks to implement this aim by exerting beneficial influence upon the attitudes of members and pledges, providing leadership training, assisting choices for career curriculum, encouraging achievement, fostering sociality, and instilling principles of democratic living.

Troy State University's Kappa Alpha Psi is actively involved in the local Head-Start program. Each quarter the members are responsible for instituting community service projects. Whether working with the Head-Start program and the Organized Community Action Program in Pike County, visiting the local nursing homes within the Troy area, or distributing food baskets to the needy during the holiday season, Kappa Alpha Psi is indeed a fraternity that serves not only itself but the community as well. Kappa Alpha Psi is diligently striving to scholastically pursue excellence. These men host the annual "Heart Break Weekend" enabling all Greeks to participate in a step show competition.

Kappa Alpha Psi works hard as a group and individually to strive far beyond their call of duty. With their name rooted in achievement, Kappa Alpha Psi assumes a position of leadership and builds a foundation of preparation for present and future offerings. It is the fundamental belief of Kappa Alpha Psi that whatever they accomplish must be done well and in accordance with highest of standards.

The Delta Delta chapter of Kappa Delta works together to accomplish repeated success in scholarship.

Kappa Delta has "adopted a mile" on Highway 231 gaining the responsibility of keeping it neat and clean. Banana Bingo at Pike Nursing Home and the Halloween Party at the Troy Children's Home were successful ways Kappa Delta helped the community of Troy in 1989. Kappa Delta sorority benefits their philanthropy by hosting an annual golf tournament to raise money for the prevention of child abuse. The sisters and thirty nine Fall pledges raise money for the Delta Delta chapter by selling magazines, selling doughnuts, and having a car wash. By participating in these projects, Kappa Delta sisters help others while developing unity that will last forever.

igma Tau Zeta is Troy State University's Chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha. The brothers of Lambda Chi Alpha are very anxious to get involved in fraternity, campus, and community activities.

The Sigma Tau Zeta Chapter is constantly growing. This year Lambda Chi Alpha initiated twelve new associates and their determination and hard work will be beneficial to the chapter.

Lambda Chi Alpha does much to benefit the lives of others. Fall quarter, the brothers of Lambda Chi raised over $400.00 at their Haunted Forest. All of the money went to the Lambda Chi Alpha National General Education Fund. Helping the homeless of Pike County, winter quarter's Sorority President Kidnap (SPK) was a success by collecting more than 800 can goods and nonperishable food items. Lambda Chi Alpha was proud to participate in Earth Day by helping the Student Government Association plant trees on campus.

The brothers of Lambda Chi Alpha held an outstanding record in intramural sports and placed in the volleyball and basketball activities. The Sigma Tau Zeta Chapter held the championship

title for Greek Week 1989.

Lambda Chi Alpha has proven themselves to be a dedicated and determined fraternity at TSU. This group of men are successful, distinguished, and bound together by one common bond - The Brotherhood of Lambda Chi Alpha.

The Gamma Gamma Chapter of Pi Kappa Phi was founded at Troy State University in 1965, becoming the first fraternity on this campus. The brothers of Pi Kappa Phi were excited to pledge the largest pledge class on campus this fall consisting of forty-eight young men. These young men will represent the brotherhood of the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity as the oldest and most distinguished fraternity at Troy State University. The Pi Kappa Phi's list of accomplishments is long, prestigious and unequal to any other fraternity on campus. Pi Kappa Phi campus involvement is outstanding and their brothers may be found as cheerleaders, as Student Government Association Vice-President, Attorney General, and Senator, as Trojan Ambassadors, as members of the Student Recruit Team, and as P.C.O. Leaders. As a socially active fraternity, Pi Kappa again ranks at the top of the list. We offer some of TSU's most unique parties, such as: Beach Party, Jungle Party, Ski Trip, Rose Banquet, pledge swaps and a host of other social activities. Pi Kappa Phi provides the opportunity to meet new people and develop life-long friendships which will be considered as some of the best times of their lives. Pi he Brothers of Sigma Alpha Epsilon celebrated their ten year anniversary at TSU in 1990 with a full schedule of activities. Fall quarter was highlighted by the brothers raising over $2,500 for the American Cancer Society during the "Sexy Legs" contest. The brothers dribbled a basketball from Montgomery to Troy and received money for each mile they dribbled. Homecoming brought back many familiar faces as alumni came from all over to rekindle fond memories of TSU and SAE.

Wino party started off winter quarter and gave the brothers and their dates a chance to "take a walk on the wild side".

As spring quarter rolled in, the brothers could be found heading south for the sun and suds in Destin, FL. Oyster party featured Kent Duchane "on deck" at the fraternity house. Beach party held in Fort Walton was a time to forget about books and classes and enjoy life at its best. The quarter was brought to a close with the tenth anniversary Magnolia Ball. That weekend was an event not to forget as the brothers enjoyed a wide variety of activities from cocktail parties to dinner banquets.

Between the gawkiness of early adolescence and the dignity of full manhood there exists a creature known as the SAE. He comes in assorted sizes, weights, and ages, but all seem to have the same creed. In the house of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, one would find a conglomeration of all sorts of characters — Politicians, Brains, Goof-offs, Athletes, Face men, Hell Raisers, and He-Men. No matter what characteristics these men possess they are joined together by one common bond ... The Brotherhood of SAE.

Looking back at this year, many will agree that it has not been easy to be a Greek. Since the re-establishment of the Delta Psi chapter at Troy State in winter 1989, Sigma Pi has become not only a social group but also has developed into a learning arena of facts about life and people-facts that cannot be learned in the classroom.

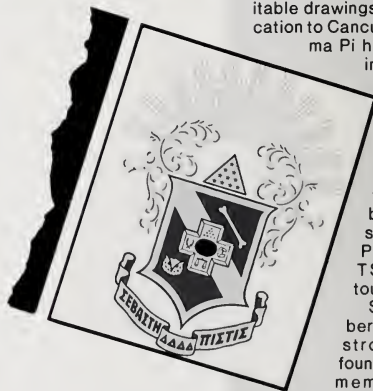

The letters of Sigma Pi are symbols of something that is ritually secret within their Brotherhood; it is a code of virtues and beliefs that serves as an inspiration for personal growth. These men are not just saying "Hey, We're Sigma Pi!", but are expressing "This is what we stand for." In the past year, Sigma Pi has evolved into a group that is radically diverse in characters and personalities. This perhaps can be considered their main strength- differences among brothers allow them to learn more about people in general. Also, heterogeneous character of Sigma Pi has made working as a group more fun and challenging.

Sigma Pi has learned to be a fraternity perhaps in a rather spontaneous way. Sigma Pi fund raisers consist of successful band parties and profitable drawings for a week vacation to Cancun, Mexico. Sigma Pi has participated in Homecoming, took part in Greek Week, and competed in the intramural sports' finals for football, basketball, and softball. Sigma Pi won the first TSU bowling tournament.

Sigma Pi membership has grown strong: from the founding "first" 15 members, to our present 54 initiated brothers. Sigma Pi has also re-established its Alumni Club and is proud to recognize the first group of "founding" alumni.

In short, Sigma Pi is growing and only getting better. This fraternity is authentic in character and believes that to be yourself is to love who you are. Sigma Pi brotherhood speaks for itself.

The Eta Phi Chapter of Sigma Chi is the largest fraternity on Troy State's campus. Sigma Chi fraternity represents determination, enthusiasm, and individuality.

Determined to reach the top and fulfill all of their dreams, the brothers of Sigma Chi are found in respectable and distinguished positions on and off of campus. Many brothers reside as active senators of the Student Government Association. David Johnson is the President of the SGA, and Ken Elder holds the office of SGA clerk. Neal Nash was named Associate Executive Secretary for the national fraternity after completing a full year of service as the President of Interfraternity Council. Sigma Chi remains strongly represented in IFC with Cam Orbaugh as Publicity Chairman and Brian Hill as Secretary. Often congregating in the quad of Bibb Graves, the brothers of Sigma Chi are also found as leaders in many clubs and organizations; such as the Troy State television crew, cheerleaders, sports, theatre, PCO leaders, and Palladium staff.

Sigma Chi fraternity is enthusiastic about being the best. The Eta Phi Chapter received first place from Nationals for their 1989 RUSH brochure. RUSH continued to be a success after initiating 32 pledges and came to a close at the annual Sweetheart Banquet where Lisa Palmisano was named 1990 Sweetheart and Bruce Buehler received the Bill King Rushing Award after dedicating seven years to the Eta Phi Chapter.

Just as they have done throughout the year, Sigma Chi will continue to be productive and will always strive to reach the goals set for themselves and the chapter.

This year was a time for changes in Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity. Membership rapidly increased and as the fraternity continued to grow, all of the opportunities, goals, and achievements were limitless. 1989 was the first time in three years that Tau Kappa Epsilon fielded a football team for intramural sports. Tau Kappa Epsilon constantly maintained one of the highest GPA's of any fraternity on campus. The brothers of Tau Kappa Epsilon put their priorities in order so that they can succeed.

Tau Kappa Epsilon National's fraternity adopted a new philanthropy-Special Olympics. Tau Kappa Epsilon aided Special Olympics throughout the year including the basketball tournament in Sartain during April and the track and field events at Fort Rucker during May. The time and effort Tau Kappa Epsilon has given to Special Olympics has helped and benefited the less fortunate.

Completing a year full of great things, Tau Kappa Epsilon is sure that the future will be packed with numerous good times, fond memories, bonding friendships, and an everlasting brotherhood.

ationally founded in 1895 and in its thirteenth year at Troy State University, the Iota Kappa chapter of Chi Omega sorority takes pride in its sisterhood and unity. From late night talks on the hall to borrowing each other's clothes, the Chi Omega sisters place togetherness at the top of the list.

Chi Omega places emphasis on helping local charities rather than on national philanthropies. These projects include visiting the Pike Manor Health Care Center and the Alabama Baptist Children's Home. The Chi Omegas also helped out with the Alabama Reunion and the Troy elementary school's halloween carnival.

This year, Greek Week ended with lots of sparkle as twenty seven girls competed in the 1990 Miss Venus Pageant. The close of the evening held much excitement as Melanie Connell, who represented Sigma Alpha Epsilon, was crowned. Representing various sororities and fraternities, each contestant was judged on poise and beauty as each modeled an evening gown. The top five contestants were also judged or their answer to a question about Greek Life. The pageant was hosted by Belamie Sauls, 1989 Miss Venus, and Erik Bennett. Highlighting the evening was entertainment provided by The Flashbax, Michelle McEuan, Tonya Thompson, and the University Cloggers.

In 1989 Head Coach Robert Maddox and the Trojan football team set out to improve their 1988 record four wins and six losses. With the hope for improvement as incentive to win, the Trojans entered a season filled with games against Gulf South Conference rivals and Division I AA foes. The team experienced exciting victories as well as devastating losses. The season was tough and plagued with injuries to key players, but the Trojans played on. But when the dust settled in Memorial Stadium after 10 games, the Trojans were 4-6 once again.

The Troy State Trojans opened the 1989 season with a heartbreaking loss to Alabama State in the "Showdown at High Noon" at the Cramton Bowl in Montgomery. The Trojans were expecting their first win of the season when they went ahead 13-10 with only 0:55 remaining in the game. Their expectations were short-lived, however, as the Hornets drove 71 yards and scored on the last play of the game to defeat the Trojans 16-13.

The Trojans used that loss as incentive to win the second game of the season, against Livingston. The game was the Gulf South Conference opener for both teams. The Trojans found themselves down 10-3 at half-time but staged a dramatic goalline stand with 4:50 left in the game to hold on to a 24-17 victory.

Coach Maddox watches with concern as the Trojans show their best in Memorial Stadium.

Troy State extended the winning streak to two games after a home victory over the University of Central Florida. The Trojan defense gave up 360 total yards but redeemed itself as six different players intercepted six UCF passes. The Knights had to settle for only two field goals and the Trojans rolled past them with a 20-6 victory.

The Trojans extended their home stand but not a winning streak as they fell to the hands of West Georgia 28-14. The loss dropped the Trojans to 2-2 overall and 1-1 in the GSC. The game was West Georgia's first victory over TSU since the Braves joined the GSC five years ago.

The Trojans were handed their second consecutive conference loss by the Blazers of Valdosta State. Valdosta piled up 17 first-half points and the Trojans were unable to make a comeback losing 20-14.

The Trojans returned home to face conference foe Mississippi College and to lose their third straight GSC game. The Choctaws not only gained over 400 yards of offense, but they handed the Trojans their worst loss in 12 years with a 45-7 score. TSU lost by an identical score in 1978 at Southeastern Louisiana.

At Delta State, the Trojans extended the conference losing streak to four games. The Trojans fell to 2-5 on the season after a disappointing 38-28 loss to the Statesmen. The loss also placed the Trojans at the bottom of the GSC with a 1-4 record.

Frustrated with a possibility of losing a game, Ryan Poe "bites the jersey."

Homecoming Victory Helps Trojan Morale

Game eight finally brought an end to the TSU losing streak. The Trojans topped North Alabama 23-16 for a Homecoming victory and improved their status in the conference. The Trojans also claimed a conference victory the following week with a 14-6 win over the University of Tennessee-Martin.

The Trojans hoped to finish the season at 500, but was unsuccessful due to a loss to Jacksonville State. The Gamecocks, the second ranked team in the NCA Div. II, beat the Trojans 38-3. The Trojans finished the season at 4-6 for the second consecutive year and 3-5 in the conference.

Outstanding Performances

On and Off the Field

Even though the season ended on a losing note, a few of the Trojans were recognized for their outstanding performances both on and off the field. Offensive Linebackers George Coker and Michael Herbert were named to the All Gulf South Conference team. Defensive end David Summerall and cornerback Doug Mims were placed in the All Academic Conference team, the second consecutive year for Mims.

Injuries? No Problem

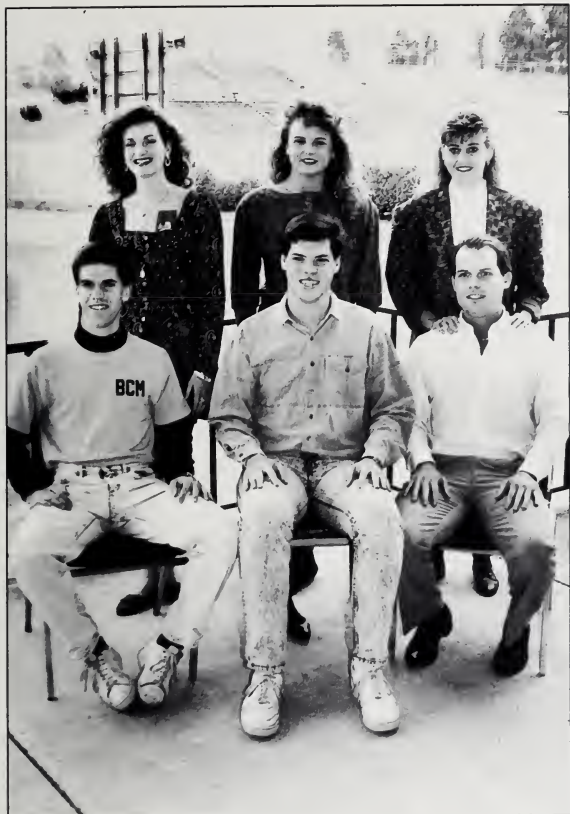

An integral part of the Troy State Athletic Department is the sports medicine/athletic training program. The program, which serves as a support group for the University Athletic Department as well as a branch of the School of Education and the Physical Education, is directed by John Anderson, curriculum; Marshall Smith and Chuck Ash, clinicals. Daily functions include the care, prevention, treatment and rehabilitation of the athletic injuries of the TSU athletes. The department also acts as a liaison between 40 area high schools and the University.

Working along side the program directors are one full-time graduate assistant and eight student assistants. They receive hands-on training for jobs in the sports medicine field. Not only do they work at athletic events during the school year, but they are also employed at Health South rehabilitation clinics during the summer.

Keeping Us Informed

The purpose of the sports information office is to promote Troy State University through its athletics programs, athletes, and coaches. The SID staff works closely with the TSU coaches, athletes and sports teams, gathering information on all Troy State sporting events at home and on the road. The staff keeps statistics, writes game stories and features, and offers assistance to the media scheduling interviews with players, coaches and other TSU personalities. The office maintains information on all TSU athletes and coaches.

This office also acts as an information bureau for area newspapers, radio and television stations, and it serves as a liaison between the department of athletics and the Troy State sports fan.

The office of sports information sends out periodic releases to several hundred media outlets, and produces all sports related university publications.

The Spirit Never Changes

TSU Cheerleaders

Most people think of cheerleading as one of the more glamorous sports but the Troy State University cheerleaders put in many hours of demanding practice in order to perfect their cheers and stunts.

They work hard at football and basketball games raising school spirit as well as participating in community events and fundraisers. You can always find them with a smiling face and eager to help attitudes.

The cheerleading squad is chosen every spring quarter. The squad consists of seven males and seven females. They are judged on a personal interview, a cheer combined with a stunt, partner stunts, and a dance routine. They practice two hours a day, three days a week during football season and once a week during basketball season. They perform at all home and away football games and all home basketball games as well as in-state away games. Another integral part of the cheerleading squad is T-Roy. Two people are chosen to perform in the uniform based on a three minute skit. T-Roy along with the 14 member squad help provide the winning attitude and ever ending Trojan spirit throughout the year.

STUNTS

More Than Just Strength

Over the years cheerleading has grown to be more than just promoting school spirit and because of this, it has become one of the most dangerous sports today. TSU Cheerleaders attend a summer camp each year in order to perfect their stunts so that no one gets hurt. This year they went to East Tennessee State in Johnson City, Tennessee. Many hours of practice went into their routines so as to come home with one Gold, three Blue and one Red ribbons. While at camp they learned cheering skills, proper stunt techniques, and ideas for dance routines. When asked, what is most important thing learned at camp? Chris Waites answered "learning to live with each other as well as learning the cheers and stunts." Several of TSU's cheerleaders were offered positions as UCA staff members. Among those were Teresa McKinney, Heather Huber, Trish Gabaldin and Chad Torrice.

Lady Trojans

Hold On To A Rollercoaster Season

Winning The GSC Title

Coach VanDeraa pays close attention to each of her player's as they battle it out for the GSC title.

The Lady Trojans volleyball team had a rollercoaster season filled with injuries and unexpected losses. However, when the going got tough, the ladies got going and with the guidance of first year coach Kim VanDeraa, they brought a Gulf South Conference title back to TSU.

The volleyball team finished the season with a final record of 27-14, 7-6 in the GSC. The season was a learning experience for both the new coach and the players, especially when mid-season injuries to key players forced VanDeraa to switch the starting line-up. The ladies made it through the adversity due to leadership by veteran players Dee Dee Taylor and April Goodwin. According to Coach VanDeraa, those two seniors led and motivated the other players. "If April played well, then everyone played well," said VanDeraa.

The team always came through in the clutch, winning the matches against the more difficult teams. They scored regular season victories against Jacksonville State, Livingston and Mississippi College. "We seemed to have had a harder time against the easier schools and it seemed as though someone was hurt during every conference match," the coach said.

The Ladies Trojans went into the GSC tournament ranked sixth in the conference. According to VanDeraa, their expectations of winning were not very high, but they played well and finished the tournament undefeated. They beat University of North Alabama, West Georgia, and Jacksonville State to advance to the final match. The ladies then defeated Jacksonville State again for the conference title.

"We played our best volleyball of the season during the tournament," said VanDeraa.

Lady Trojans

So Close and Yet So Far

So close and yet so far. That could be the theme of the 1989-90 Troy State Woman's Basketball team.

The team, under 16th year Head Coach Joyce Sorrell, started the year with promise, winning two of their early games before struggling to a final 9-19 record.

Among the victories, the Lady Trojans whipped Livingston, Valdosta State and Auburn-Montgomery. Among the losses was a heart-breaking 71-70 defeat at the hands of Miles College.

Despite a dismal overall season, there were several bright spots for the Lady Trojans. Angie Lowe, a rare four year starter at center, and the ladies team captain, had an outstanding year. She averaged 22.6 points and 11.1 rebounds per game, making All-Gulf South Conference, and setting a new Troy State Women's single-season scoring record with 632 points. The record Angie broke was set by Denise Monroe in 1981 at 602 points.

Shea Moore, another senior, also had an outstanding season. She led the Lady Trojans in scoring 10 times averaging 17.9 points per game. These two players will be sadly missed next season.

A Record Breaking Season

Troy State's 1989-90 basketball team opened with a home exhibition game against Canterbury, New Zealand winning by a score of 99-95 in front of a 1,950 Trojan fans. The real season began on Saturday, Nov. 18 when 2,250 watched TSU defeat Auburn-Montgomery. Troy State later traveled to arch-rival Jacksonville State on their first GSC road-trip of the season drawing a conference record crowd of 6,500. The Trojans lost, in the highest scoring game in GSC history, by a score of 116-129. The Troy State vs. Jacksonville State match-up proved to be a strong one as a Sartain Hall record crowd of 3,233 showed up on March 3 with Troy needing a win over the Gamecocks to share the GSC crown. Jacksonville showed ready to run and, with a 40-14 scoring drive in the second half, dropped the Trojans to 3rd place with a score of 83-106. Mississippi College then finished second.

Troy State proceeded to break records both individual and as a team. As a team, Troy State attempted 623 three pointers while making 187, posted 559 assists, ended with a scoring average of 98.1, allowing 2,522 points, and stealing the ball 311 times. The Trojans also claimed the conference's second slot with 98.1 points per game. TSU now sits atop the GSC Three Point Field Goals Attempted column with 623.

This year Anthony Reed became Troy State's all-time and the GSC's fourth leading scor-

The Troy State Tennis under first year head coach Sue Whiteside overcame a 1-6 start to finish the year at 14-11 and a third place tie in the Gulf South Conference Tournament.

The Trojans were 1-6 going into play at Hilton Head, SC Tournament. They started their turn around with a 6-1 record at the tournament to even their record at 7-7. The Trojans had victories over Youngstown (8-1), Millersville (5-4), Baker (6-2), Allegheny (9-0), and Akron (5-4), with the only loss coming to Baptist (4-5).

The Trojans came back from South Carolina to win 7 out of the last 11 matches to finish the season at 14-11 and a third seeding at GSC Tournament. TSU had four first round victories and one second round victory. Steve Barsby reached the final and came away with a 6-2; 6-2 victory to claim his first GSC Title. In doubles the team of Ross Williamson and Steve Barsby were the only team to reach the finals, but came up short losing to Jacksonville State's Hagland and Jacobson 6-0; 6-3.

Keeping It Under Par

Troy State University's golf team, winner of the Gulf South Conference for ten of the past 11 years, traveled to its 16th consecutive NCAA Division II Golf Championship Tournament at Loxahatchee Golf Club in Jupiter, Fla.

The Trojans represented by three players with nationals experience. Joe Shahady (Jr., Plantation, Fla.) and Preston Wilson (Soph. Tuscumbia, Ala.) were on the Troy State team that finished fourth in the nation last season, and both earned All-American honors in that tournament. A third team member, senior Brad Champion (Marietta, Ga.), participated in nationals in 1988.

David Lewis (Jr. Dothan) and Brian Etheridge (So. Daleville) made their first appearance at nationals for the Trojans.

Troy State is coming off a 22-stroke victory in the Gulf South Conference championship, regaining the crown lost last season to Valdosta State after nine straight championships.

"The GSC was our best tournament this year by far," said head coach Barney Burnett. "We all shot good rounds up there. Up until then, it seemed we always had to count one or two bad rounds a tournament that killed us. We started getting together in The Senior Bowl in Mobile (Feb. 23-25), and got a little better in the Southeastern (April 8-10). We put up good numbers in the GSC, and we've been putting up good numbers in the practice rounds we've shot since then."

"I've heard that the course we're set to play is in immaculate condition," said Burnett. "We're set to play a couple of practice rounds down there before the tournament. If we keep playing well, we'll be in the hunt."

Setting the Pace

The Troy State University cross country team had another successful year that culminated with the Trojans capturing their 17th consecutive Gulf South Conference Championship. The Trojans were under the leadership of a new, but familiar coach. John "Doc" Anderson returned to TSU to coach cross country after a 10 year stint as head trainer at Louisiana State University. Anderson was responsible for starting the track program at TSU in the early 1970's.

The team was young and inexperienced. "The second most inexperienced team I've ever coached," said Anderson. But assisted by three year TSU cross country veteran Bobby Lambert, Anderson coached a successful team. The team consisted of four freshmen, Paul Messerli, Cedric Robinson, Tim Nelson and Mitch McGinnis. Returning sophomores were Kevin Hyche, Dermot Shortall, Carlisle Morris, Steve Ogburn, Pedros Asgedom, and Pierre Joseph.

The first meet of the season was the University of North Alabama Invitational in Florence. The Trojans finished first, ahead of GSC foes West Georgia and UNA. Messerli, McGinnis, Joseph and Shortall all placed in the top ten.

The next meet took the Trojans on the road to Tallahassee for the Florida State Invitational. At FSU, the Trojans placed 14th out of a field of 19 mostly Division I teams. McGinnis was the first Troy State runner to cross the finish line, in 77th place. Teammate Messerli was .04 seconds behind him, in 80th place out of 183 runners.

For the next meet, the Trojans travelled to the Alabama Invitational in Tuscaloosa. TSU finished fourth out of a field of five teams. Messerli, led the team once again, and finished along with McGinnis and Joseph in the top 15.

At the Berry College Invitational in Rome, Georgia, the Trojans finished in fifth place out of 14 teams. Messerli and Joseph led the Trojans, finishing ninth and tenth respectively. McGinnis was less than a minute behind, finishing the race fifteenth overall.

The Trojans took home another fifth finish at the Ole Miss Invitational. Messerli continued to lead the Trojans with a 24th place finish. Joseph and McGinnis were close behind, finishing in 24th and 25th place. The Ole Miss meet was the last meet of the regular season.

The final meet of the year was the GSC championship and the NCAA South Regional meet. The Trojans finished above all GSC teams to win their 17th consecutive conference title. TSU also finished fourth overall in the South Region.

500 Season

Becomes a Learning One

The Lady Trojans softball team finished its first season under the direction of head coach Becky Bobo and assistant Coach Ron Meilleur with a 21-21 record. Bobo, a 1988 TSU graduate and a four year veteran of the TSU softball team, returned from the University of Tennessee to coach the softball team to a fifth place finish in the Gulf South Conference.

The softball team participated in several tournaments during the season, including tournaments at West Georgia College and the Mississippi University for Women. The West Georgia tournament was the most successful outing of the Lady Trojans as they beat GSC foe Livingston in extra innings for the tournament title.

"We went to several other tournaments where we did not do as well," said Bobo. "But we made adjustments after each loss. Losing is alright if you learn from it."

Even though the Lady Trojans did not lead the GSC in wins, several players led the conference in individual categories. Returning player Michelle Weston led the GSC in batting, with a .428 average. Four year All-GSC pitcher/hortstop Dee Dee Taylor was second in the league, averaging .427.

Senior Kelly Simpson played most of the season with a fratured ankle, but batted .303, had 14 runs batted in and was second in the GSC in number of walks with 20.

Dee Dee Taylor at bat, led the league in the number of bases hit, with 61.

When the Trojans baseball season ended, so did an era. Head Coach Chase Riddle resigned after twelve years, five Gulf South Conference titles, six NCAA Division II Regional Championships and two National Championships, in 1986 and 1987. Riddle became the winningest coach in Trojan history, concluding his career with a record of 435-149-2.

The 1990 team finished its season with a record of 51-10. The team set a new school record for wins in a season, passing the 46-8 record of the 1986 national championship team.

The Trojans started the season with 11 straight wins and finally lost to Valparaiso 8-5 in the first week in March.

However, the team took the loss in stride and started an 8 game winning streak in which the Trojans outscored their opponents 68 to 10.

The third Trojan loss occurred against West Georgia, but only after 29 wins. The Trojans kept on a roll against GSC and NAIA schools, and never fell below second place in the GSC east division.

Nine of the ten losses were against GSC teams, but the Trojans were still able to tie for the lead in the GSC-East and play in the conference tournament at the University of North Alabama. After the first round of the tournament, the Trojans fell into the loser bracket with a 4-3 loss to Livingston. The Trojans battled back and beat the home team favorites, UNA and Livingston, to make it to the final round. Troy State lost the GSC title to Jacksonville State by a score of 10-6.

The loss of the conference was not the end of the season for the Trojans. They received a bid to play in and host the South Central Regional Tournament. The Trojans beat Missouri Southern in the first round, and once again had to face GSC foe Jacksonville State. The Trojans beat Jacksonville State in the first game 6-2, but fell in the next two 5-0 and 11-2. The Trojans fell one game short of returning to the Division II Baseball Championship.

The Trojans broke several school records and won many honors during the season. Two Trojans, pitcher Ward Thigpen and catcher Joel Smith were named All-Americans, first and third team respectively. Thigpen, a senior, finished the season with a 11-1 record, 2 saves and a 2.13 earned run average. He had 107 strikeouts, 23 walks and pitched a shutout against Jacksonville State. Thigpen set TSU single game records against Faulkner when he retired 19 straight batters and against Montevallo when he struck out seven straight batters. He was also named the region's Most Outstanding Pitcher and was named first team NCAA Division II All-Central Region Team.

Smith, a junior hit .303 in 53 games with a school record-tying 19 runs and a team leading 64 runs batted in. Smith tied Dave Banks 1984 record for extra base hits with 34, including 14 doubles and one triple. Smith was also first team All-Central Region.

Scott Ates, a senior left fielder, led the team in hitting with a .392 batting average and had 49 RBI's in 58 games. He broke the season record for doubles with 18, and set a new record for hits in a season with 85, singles with 60, and tied Ed Nix's 1984 record for games with one or more hits with 45. Ates set the TSU career record for doubles with 29. He was also named to the All-Region Team.

Senior pitcher Stoney Melton finished the year with a team-leading 1.07 ERA, which bettered the 1981 record set by Danny Cox. He had a 9-1 record with three saves and one shutout.

ADMINISTRATION

1990

Dr. Jack Hawkins, Jr.

Chancellor

Dr. Jack Hawkins, Jr. is a native of Mobile, Alabama. He was educated in the public schools of that city and went on to receive his baccalaureate and masters degrees from the University of Montevallo and his doctoral degree from the University of Alabama. In 1985, he was honored by the University of Montevallo as Distinguished Alumnus of the Year. Dr. Hawkins' family includes his wife, Janice, and three children: Jay, 21; Katie, 10; and Kelly, 8.

Upon graduation from college in 1967, Dr. Hawkins was commissioned a Lieutenant in the U. S. Marine Corps and served as platoon leader during the Viet Nam War. For combat duty, he received the Bronze Star, the Purple Heart, and a citation by the Korean Marine Corps.

Dr. Hawkins' professional background includes his service as assistant dean and professor in the School of Health Related Professions at the University of Alabama in Birmingham and as Executive Director of the Health Careers Council of Alabama. For ten years, he was president of the Alabama Institute for Deaf and Blind in Talladega, where his leadership resulted in the generation of more than $7 million in private gifts and $17 million in improvements to the physical plant. A prolific writer of articles for professional journals and books, Dr. Hawkins is co-author of Out of Silence and Darkness: The History of the Alabama Institute for Deaf and Blind, published by the TSU Press in 1983.

A former member of the Board of Trustees, Talladega College and of the Board of Directors for AmSouth Bank of Talladega, Dr. Hawkins presently serves on the Board of Directors for the Alabama Humanities Foundation; on the Board of Trustees of the American Foundation for the Blind; and on the Board of Directors of Troy Bank and Trust. A member of the Alabama Board of Directors of the Partners of the Americas, Dr. Hawkins has been instrumental in efforts to improve Guatemala's educational system. For 1990, he serves as State Development Chairman for the American Heart Association, directing a $2.6 million fundraising campaign.

On June 28, 1989, the Board of Trustees of the Troy State University System selected Dr. Hawkins as Chancellor from a nationwide pool of more than seventy applicants. Assuming the duties of the position on September 1, 1989, Dr. Hawkins is the chief executive officer of the Troy State University System. Chancellor Hawkins serves as Secretary to the Troy State University System Board of Trustees.

Chancellor Hawkins with his family, Katie, Janice, and Kelly.

Up Close with Dr. Hawkins

Fall of 1989 brought a new Chancellor, Dr. Jack Hawkins, Jr., to the Troy State University System. To allow students to become more acquainted with Dr. Hawkins, the Palladium conducted the following interview.

You have called Troy State "the All-American University." Please tell us how this term fits TSU?

This term might sound like a misnomer at first, since we have students on this campus from 26 foreign countries, and since TSU has locations all over the globe. But think about what America is: it's a melting pot of backgrounds and heritages, all coming together to make up a very diverse nation. Most of us can trace our genealogies to other countries. The English language reflects this same diversity. Now, when you relate all that to Troy State—a university that is a collection of campuses and regions that reach all over the world, serving 14,000 students, each with a different set of needs and goals—then you can see how appropriate the term "All-American" is. To add to this, shortly after Janice and I arrived in Troy, we remarked to each other what a traditional college campus this is. That is not to exclude the fact that it's culturally diverse; but the basic makeup of the student body, the pervading atmosphere, is one of moral solidity, mutual caring, and the freedom to dream. The University Family is full of everything that's made America great.

What attracted you to Troy State?

I'll have to refer back to the concept of diversity. Troy State is a unique institution. It seems to know no bounds in terms of who or where it can be of service to those who have educational needs. Another reason for my attraction was the military connections. This is a very important constituency for the University; it's one that some universities fail to capitalize on, or simply do not have any interest in. With more and more adults needing and wanting to get or complete their college education, and with so many of those being in the military, this market is vital. A less tangible reason for my attraction is the exciting array of challenges that face the University during this decade and in the 21st century. Those include answering the changing demographics, implementing high technology, enhancing development and fundraising activities, and making Troy State University well-known everywhere.

What basic principles will guide your administration?

It's given that there will be hard work, determination, and commitment to excellence. But more important is the necessity of vision. We all have to work together, combining our visions for the University's future, until we have a common vision. Once we have that, we must move toward that vision with commitment, persistence, and enthusiasm. In so doing, we will solicit the input of many groups—students, faculty, fellow administrators, alumni, townspeople, and friends of the University.

What are your immediate goals for TSU?

There are some pressing needs for improvement, the answers to which are being addressed. We realize the need to improve the library, and Dean Souter has developed a plan for this. We are also addressing the important issue of quality of life on the campus; in answer to this, we will continue to improve classrooms, laboratories, residence halls, and recreational facilities. Another goal is to seek and earn individual accreditation for all eligible academic programs. There are other goals, but these are the most immediate ones.

The 21st century dawns in 10 years. What will TSU and higher education look like in the year 2000?

There will be more use of technology. I can visualize students registering for classes, paying their bills, taking tests, watching lectures, and even meeting with their professors through the use of interactive video. There will be more nontraditional students, i.e., those age 25 and older; those who have been to college before and are returning for various reasons; those who have never been to college. There will be new academic programs to prepare students for the changing world.

The successful TSU and other institutions of higher learning will be the ones who actively seek support from private benefactors to supplement what is appropriated by the legislature.

In essence, the most successful colleges and universities in the year 2000 will be the ones that are flexible to changing demographics and their needs, and who share a partnership with the world that lies beyond the college walls.

Since the theme of this year's Palladium is "In a World of Change," what major changes have you seen in the past ten years in education, in the eyes of administrators, faculty, and students?

The first thing that comes to mind is an increasing insistence on quality. Administrators have come to demand the highest possible quality in personnel, operating equipment, faculty, everything. The faculty demand quality students, and the students demand quality in every aspect of the college experience. This is not to say that previous generations have accepted less than top quality; it's just that quality has become the watchword of the last ten years. By and large, people don't mind investing time and money in quality products and worthwhile pursuits.

More tangibly, cutbacks in financial aid programs have meant that more students are having to work their way through school at off-campus jobs. In relation to the job market's demand for quality graduates, students really have to budget every minute of every day in order to work, study, and be involved in college activities. In order to land the best jobs, graduates have to have more than a degree; they have to have good grades, a tional institutions?

As a matter of fact, when I was at UAB's School of Health Related Professions, I decided to make higher education my career and hopefully to one day become a college president. However, to have had the opportunity to head one institution for ten years and now to be at Troy State University were never expected. I have been blessed with opportunity.

Is there any particular activity that you and your family enjoy doing together?

We love to travel. We love to go to the beach together. My two girls were born with wanderlust, and that's a blessing, since my wife and I like traveling together so much. We also like to engage in creative storytelling, especially when we're on a trip. It's one of those things where one of us will start the story, then the next person will add to it, and finally another will tell the ending.

In what special ways has Troy made you a part of it's family?

There have been so many things that it's hard to count them. I remember the reception that the Chamber of Commerce gave us last July. I remember the student reception in September. I remember all the donations that were made to improve the Chancellor's Home. Interspersed through all of this have been invitations to speak and to join clubs; inductions into campus honor societies; dinner parties on and off campus. I guess the underlying theme has been one of genuine heartfelt acceptance. The people on campus and in the city have made us feel so welcome that we feel as though we've been here much longer than we actually have. They're not treating us as transients, but as a family who has come to stay. What are your views on the Greek System at TSU?

The fraternities and sororities are laboratories for human relations and good citizenship. They are excellent for developing such traits as leadership, camaraderie, and group goal setting. Thank goodness the Greeks of today are not elitist, barbaric, beer-swilling, party professionals. I see them as fun-loving and socially-oriented, certainly; but I see them responding to such national and international concerns as drug and alcohol abuse, AIDS, the environment, sexual misconduct, and racial stress. I see them here at Troy State as surrogate families, homes-away-from-home, yet including their parents and siblings in many of their activities. I see the Greek System here as a strong force on campus, but I would like to see it grow and continue to prosper. This will require, as with anything, a lot of cooperative effort. With Greeks all over the country under constant scrutiny from opposition, we can start here by improving the image of the organizations through community service, good public relations, and responsible citizenship.

The Palladium would like to thank Dr. Hawkins for taking time out of his busy schedule to help the students become more acquainted with him and his family.

good variety of activities, some work experience, and on top of it all, they have to present themselves well. All of this reflects back on the university: as part of a student's education, universities have had to diversify their offerings in such areas as personal and career counseling. Such programs are designed to prepare graduates for the real world that has gotten more and more competitive.

Since all work makes for a dull life, what are some of your avocations?

I like to play golf, just to relax and have fun. I jog, too. Jogging relieves tension and gets me away from the telephone. I also love to read.

In your years of planning for the future, did you ever have dreams of becoming the head of two different major educa-

College of Arts and Sciences

The mission of the College of Arts and Sciences is the traditional one of providing a broad liberal education. This goal embraces the cultivation of ideas and independent thinking, the stimulation of reasonable and critical judgement, and the broadening of past and contemporary knowledge. The desired result is to deepen one's appreciation of the achievements of mankind, to develop fuller understanding and tolerance, and to encourage each individual student toward greater and more informed participation in the life of a free society.

The College of Arts and Sciences is divided into eight departments: History and Social Sciences, English, Foreign Languages, Biology, Mathematics, Physical Science, Criminal Justice and Aero-

School of Education

The School of Education is organized into four departments: education, psychology, health and physical education (HPER) and human services.

A regional In-Service Education Center, located in McCarthy Hall, became a part of the School of Education in 1985. Its purpose is to provide in-service education for twenty-two school systems in southeast Alabama.

The current faculty is best prepared in the history of the School of Education. All nineteen faculty members in the Departments of Education and Psychology hold doctoral degrees from a total of fourteen universities throughout the United States. The Department of Health and Physical Education has added several faculty members with doctorates during the past three years.

The Department of Education offers undergraduate and graduate programs in early childhood, elementary, special and secondary/N-12 education. A non-traditional fifth-year program in education was implemented in September, 1985, for persons holding non-education baccalaureate degrees. Teacher education programs offered on the Troy campus are accredited by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education, Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and the Alabama State Department of Education.

The Department of Psychology offers an undergraduate major and minor in psychology and double majors in psychology and marketing and psychology and management.

In addition to its teacher education programs, the Department of Health and Physical Education offers non-teaching degrees in health and physical education. The Department of Human Services offers undergraduate degrees in rehabilitation, human services and social work. The social work program received national accreditation from the Council on Social Work Accreditation in June, 1989.

Sorrell College of Business

The programs offered by the Sorrell College of Business are designed to promote an entrepreneurial spirit and to develop the skills and leadership qualities needed to succeed in the free enterprise system. It's major and minor degree offerings teach the technical competencies and attitudes of mind necessary to better understand and successfully cope with the rapidly changing domestic and international world of business, industry and government. To facilitate these objectives, a faculty of highly qualified men and women bring to the classroom diversified academic and business experience backgrounds.

The college now offers two tracks for the student to pursue. The first is in the business administration program, which includes majors in accounting, economics, finance, general business, management, marketing and office systems. These majors require the study of quantitative methods, management information systems, basic economics and accounting, business law, finance, marketing, management, production, communication and organizational and policy analysis.

The second track encompasses the study of computer and information science. The student pursues a course regimen of computer languages, programming, and data base systems. The program emphasizes a "hands on" approach with the utilization of personal computers. In conjunction with computer studies, the student also pursues an academic concentration in either accounting or business administration or a major or double minor of his choosing.

The College of Business also allows the student to pursue other avenues of study. The business education major can be obtained by those interested in teaching business courses on the high school level. An economics major can be obtained by the student preferring a social science emphasis. Minors in business administration, economics and computer information science are also available.

School of Nursing

The School of Nursing offers three levels of educational programs; the Associate of Science and the Master of Science, located on the Montgomery campus, and the Bachelor of Science, located on the Troy campus with upward mobility programs in Dothan, Phenix City and Montgomery.

Nursing is a rapidly changing field with many opportunities in health care for both men and women. Students in the School of Nursing have the advantages of a college education and professional clinical experiences in a variety of health care settings. Faculty and staff are well qualified and all programs are nationally accredited. Troy State University School of Nursing provides quality education for nurses who will contribute to improved health care for individuals and communities. The nursing faculty and administration encourage all individuals who are looking forward to a rewarding career with excellent employment opportunities to consider nursing.

School of Fine Arts

The School of Fine Arts at Troy State University is dedicated to the concept that every person needs the opportunity to experience the arts and culture of our existence. It firmly believes this search for intellectual, emotional and aesthetic satisfaction can help develop objectives and meaning for life.

Created in 1971, the School of Fine Arts encompasses the disciplines of drama, speech, and the visual arts. Through a curriculum which encourages performance, but recognizes the need for a thorough background in history and theory, students can pursue an avocational experience or prepare for a career in the arts. These opportunities are guided to fruition through the dedicated efforts of faculty artists concerned with the total educational experience.

A wide variety of cultural events are presented by the School throughout the academic year. These include student and faculty exhibits in the visual arts, gridiron performances by the "Sound of the South" marching band, concerts by the Jazz band, Symphony band, Collegiate Singers, and Madrigals, operas and musicals performed by the Opera Workshop, student and faculty recitals, intercollegiate debate competitions, children's theatre presented by the Pied Pipers and a broad spectrum of dramatic productions.

Hall School of Journalism

The Hall School of Journalism is the youngest School on the TSU Main Campus with a beginning in 1972, but now has over 225 majors in the two areas of concentration, news-editorial and broadcast.

Modern equipment and facilities for both sequences provide students the opportunity to get "hands on" experience in their respective fields. Broadcast journalism students produce an evening news show on WTSU-TV very similar to that of area professional stations and a type-setting system with laser printing gives the news-editorial students the feel for working in the profession.

As an additional aid to the students' education, a Chair of Journalism, established in 1980, gives the students another means of contact with those in the profession.

In order to involve students more with the field of journalism, a chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists was established in 1975 and a chapter of Alpha Epsilon Rho, the national broadcasting society, was chartered in 1981.

All faculty members in the School of Journalism have experience in the profession, which brings another dimension to the "hands on" approach of the program.

Merrill Bankester, dean

since 1980, had eight years in the newspaper profession before getting into college teaching.

Anelle Adcock had her own public relations business prior to joining the staff. Her primary teaching area is the public relations and advertising courses.

Bob Fordan, now in his second year at Troy State, had experience in the radio and television industry.

Gordon McKerral, who heads up the print sequence, had 10 years in the newspaper business including being a part owner of a newspaper in Indiana.

One popular extra-curricular activity that the School of Journalism sponsors each spring is a symposium which deals with ethics, privacy, and other problems which the media have to deal with. Panelists include nationally known personalities who discuss these problems.

Graduate School

Dr. Rudi Argenti
Dean

The first graduate degree was awarded at Troy State University in 1958. The early mission of the Graduate School was to provide programs for the preparation of students in teacher education and to meet the needs of the elementary and secondary schools. The degree of Master of Science in Education was offered in several major areas.

In the 1970's as the need for knowledge and advanced education in specialized and professional fields developed, the Graduate School mission was expanded and the University added several new graduate programs in the arts and sciences, business, counseling and human development, and criminal justice. Educational Specialist degrees were added in 1972 in Counseling and Human Development and in Administration and Supervision. In 1981, Educational Specialist degrees were added in Early Childhood, Elementary, and Secondary Education. The School of Nursing initiated its Master's degree program in 1982.

The Graduate School currently offers fourteen Master's degrees and is concerned with all aspects of graduate education. Its primary responsibility is the enhancement of graduate programs within the TSU System. The graduate program is administered by the dean in cooperation with the undergraduate deans. Policies and regulations which govern graduate studies are formulated by the Graduate Council.

TSU in Montgomery

Troy State University in Montgomery is an evening institution catering to the working adult student. These students come from all walks of life seeking personal growth and professional enrichment.

From its first offering of a medial technology program in 1957 at St. Margaret's Hospital with five students, TSUM now boasts a student enrollment approaching 3,000.

In Montgomery, Troy State offers the following degree granting programs: Associate, Bachelors, Masters and Education Specialist. Numerous undergraduate programs are offered and a variety of graduate programs with majors in Criminal Justice, Counseling, Computer Science, Education, Personnel Management and Business Administration. Several telecourses—education via home television—are offered each quarter.

Troy State facilities located in Montgomery include Whitley Hall, Barlett Hall, and the Davis Theatre for the Performing Arts. WTSU-FM, the Southeastern Public Radio network, has a branch office in recently refurbished facilities at Barlett Hall.

In addition to the teaching sites at Whitley Hall and Barlett Hall, TSUM teaches courses at Maxwell Air Force Base, Gunter Air Force Base, the Montgomery Police Academy and the Troy State School of Nursing in Montgomery. Troy State in Montgomery also operates the W. A. Gayle Planetarium in conjunction with the City of Montgomery.

In 1983 Troy State University in Montgomery was independently accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

TSU in Dothan/Ft. Rucker

Troy State University at Dothan and its branch campus, TSUD-Ft. Rucker, trace their origin to the Troy State Normal School.

In the late 1950's, in response to the need of the military at Ft. Rucker, Troy State began offering courses at the post, and in 1961 a resident center was established at Ft. Rucker. In 1967, the branch on the military base was named Troy State University at Ft. Rucker.

By the mid 1970's, TSU at Ft. Rucker had outgrown the facilities available at Ft. Rucker.

Wallace State Community College in Dothan offered the use of its classrooms, and, in 1974, Troy State University began offering courses in Dothan. Soon after, the University purchased property in downtown Dothan for the establishment of a campus to serve the needs of the citizens of the Tri-States Region of Alabama, Georgia, and Florida. In 1986, Troy State University at Dothan became the official name of the University.

June of 1990 marked a new beginning for TSUD when the University moved to its new campus facilities. Located on approximately 250 acres of land on U. S. Highway 231 North, the new campus consists of two buildings styled in the classic Williamsburg tradition of architecture. Here TSUD students continue to receive a quality education, but in a more conventional university environment. TSUD continues to maintain its branch campus in Ft. Rucker.

College of Special Programs

The College of Special Programs was organized August 1, 1981, to administer the off-campus programs. The largest task of the College is the administration of the off-campus branches of TSU at Phenix City; Ft. Benning, Georgia; Cuba; Europe; the Pacific; New Orleans; Blytheville, Arkansas; Columbus, Mississippi; and the Florida Region.

In the Fall of 1989 there were approximately 5,000 students enrolled in over 8,000 courses with the College of Special Programs. The most common academic programs are Business Administration, Management, Applied Science, International Relations, Personnel Management, Criminal Justice, Counseling and Human Development.

TSU in Blytheville, Arkansas

Eaker Air Force Base is located in Northeastern Arkansas. It is a SAC Base with world-wide bomber and air refueling missions, that serve our national security interests. The base itself has about 5,000 military, civilian employees, and their dependents. In September, 1988, Troy State University responded to a request from Eaker Air Force Base in Blytheville to establish a graduate program. Today our students are attending TSU's classes leading to a master of public administration degree. TSU is providing intensive week-end format and evening course work to the installation's population.

Dr. Richard D. Feld
Instructor

TSU in Cuba

Troy State University in Guantanamo Bay, Cuba services a community of 7,000 military members, contractors, and dependents as well as international students. The base itself is uniquely located in a Communist country. It is surrounded by mine fields, barbed wire fences and waterways. The program has expanded from a small dedicated group of students in a few core classes to 100 students in a variety of courses. Graduation will be held August 1, 1990 and will include three recipients of a Bachelor's of Applied Science Degree and fifteen recipients of the Master's of Public Administration.

TSU in Europe

Troy State University-European Region offers three graduate degree programs to more than 1,000 students living and working at thirty-two U. S. military bases in England, Germany, Greece, Italy, Holland, Portugal, Spain, and Turkey. The Master of Public Administration degree program with almost 800 enrollments per term is the largest graduate program offered outside of the United States. The Master of Science in International Relations and Master of Science in Management degree programs each generate about 280 enrollments per term.

Senior Staff: Row one: C. Philip Wittenberg; Director Support Services, Robert H. Kelly; Vice President European Region, Charles R. Connell; Chief Academic Officer and David P. Pruitt; Registrar/Director of Admissions. Row two: Peter J. Petersen; Director Marketing and Development and David L. Carpenter; Director Computer Services.

Florida Region, Inc.

Troy State University-Florida Region offers associate degrees in Criminal Justice, General Education and Business Administration. The Florida Region also offers baccalaureate degrees in Applied Science, Business Administration, Computer Science, Criminal Justice, Psychology and Social Sciences. Masters Degrees are being offered in Counseling and Human Development, Management, Public Administration and International Relations.

TSU in Ft. Benning

In 1976 TSU began a resident education center in Columbus, GA with 147 students. In the Fall of 1989 it's enrollment had grown to 1,990. A major factor attributing to the growth of TSUFB is the total commitment of the faculty and staff to meet the ever-changing needs and educational requirements of a unique student body population, with it's wide scope of individual experience and it's broad age differential. To answer these challenges the administration instituted a deferred payment plan, rental textbooks, special course scheduling, the Soldiers Opportunity College Associate Degree and an Alumni Association.

Pacific Region

The motto, "The sun shall never set on the Troy State Campus", was made true when the U. S. Military contracted with the university to offer graduate education programs for the next five years in Hawaii, Japan, Okinawa and Korea. Today TSU is providing quality education program opportunities throughout the Pacific to tens of thousands of U. S. military, civilian employees and dependents. Today hundreds of students are attending this far flung operation with hopes of fulfilling their goals of improving their military performance or entering the education profession.

TSU in Phenix City

TSUPC came into existence as a branch of Troy State University Montgomery in 1975 with the purpose of offering much needed baccalaureate degree programs in Business and Criminal Justice. In 1976, a "field courses" masters degree program in Education was begun under the guidance of TSUM. In 1981, TSUPC was "moved" under the direct administration of Troy State University-Main Campus, with credentialing and accreditation established through the Main Campus.

Editor's Note

Well I've finally found the bottom of my desk. It took me about ten months to do it but yes it has a bottom. I would not have thought so about the last week of May.

This year has given me experiences that I will never forget; like when I had the ladder all drawn in and someone mentioned that we were allowed only eight color flats when I had thirteen; or when Barbara (my Herff Jones Rep.) said I needed copyright clearance on certain things in the current events section after the layouts had already been sent to the plant. I travelled all over the U.S. one afternoon, by phone, trying get permission to print those stupid pictures. Oh, and lets not forget the pictures that walk off my desk, or the dumb phone book that can never be found!

But the good things out weigh the bad by far. This year's Staff has done miracles with the book. They have always pulled through even though it may have caused me some gray hairs. They have all been GREAT. If it weren't for their time and hard work you would not be reading this right now.

My chief Associate Editor and right hand woman, Michelle Waddington, helped me through many a long deadline and all those (wonderful) social problems. Best of luck to her as she takes a bite of the real world. Good luck and best wishes. Then there is Kyle Smith, my Business Manager. I consider him little brother even if he looks older than I do. Kyle, thanks for helping with the computers from hell and that wonderful copy YOU should have written. To the rest of my staff Mandy, Amy, Jennifer, Connie, Dee, Heath and Cheese thanks for your support and putting up with my constant harassment. To Barbara Sandlin, my Rep., thanks for your advice and hard work on our book, and the sweet tooth that you gave everyone.

Two other groups, of whom I could not have lived without, were Photography and Sports Information. Thanks for the wonderful ideas. Jodi, you're a life saver. Donald, thanks for you're help with sports.

And last but not certainly least, my left hand woman, Ms. Jacqueline Smith. You have been a great moral supporter. Thanks for allowing us to try some new things and I hope that we as a staff have given you another enjoyable year. Well, Amy, this bad boy belongs to you next year. Keep an open mind and start gathering lots of patience now, because later they will come in handy. I'll be there for you.

As the out going Editor-in-Chief, I hope that you have enjoyed our rendition of "A World of Change." It took lots of brainstorming sessions to put this together and it is now in your hands to judge. Enjoy.

Colophon

The 1990 Palladium, volume 79, advised by Jacqueline Smith, was printed by use of off set lithography by Herff Jones, Inc., 2800 Selma Highway, Montgomery, Alabama 36108. Mrs. Barbara Sandlin served the Palladium Staff as technical advisor from Herff Jones.

The cover and theme were designed by Michelle Waddington and Vince Stansbury. The theme "In A World Of Change" originated from a staff brainstorming session.

The cover is applied on a 160 point binders board. It is quarter bound using Lethertex 1505 smokey blue with a spanish grain, overlapping vibratex maroon 41009. The university and yearbook name are blind embossed. The theme "In A World Of Change" is debossed and silk screened in F1 silver. The spine, a traditional Palladium feature which has been on twelve consecutive editions, is silk screened in F1 silver.

The 65 pound endsheet paper stock is blue printed with HJ 467. 100 pound Bordeaux paper printed in 600 black, is used for the content pages.

All internal copy for this publication was set using an Apple II-E personal computer by the student staff. Floppy disks were submitted to Herff Jones where they were translated.

Body copy is set in 10 pt Helvetica. Captions set in 8 pt Helvetica and folios set in 8 pt Optima. People section names appear in 6 pt Souvenir Demi Italic.

With the exception of the Student Gallery, most photographs were taken by the Troy State University photography department.

This 9 x 12 volume contains 416 pages including 66 pages printed in four-color process. The press run for the 1990 edition was limited to 2500 copies.

No portion of this yearbook may be reproduced without the express written consent of the 1990 Palladium Staff. All rights reserved.
